JAPANESE BATTLESHIP SUNK; SHANGHAI'S FORTS LEVELED

Today

The War Jogs Along.
Talk Will Not End It.
Gold Coin to Europe.
Queer Mother Mania.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.

ABOUT THE SAME kind of news from Shanghai and the various seats of war. Japanese officials and Col. Hooker, commanding our Marines at Shanghai, deny that those Marines were fired on by Japanese troops. That postpones for awhile "the big provocation."

JAPANESE TORE down an American flag floating over a Protestant missionary in Shanghai. That is wrong, and hurts our feelings. Even the most ignorant Japanese should respect the flag of America, just as the most ignorant Americans ought to respect the flag of Japan. But some of them don't.

If we were having trouble with Japan and Japanese missionaries here were flying the Japanese flag, and telling American children that their religion is false, you would not care to insure that Japanese flag against violence.

YOUR YOUNG friend Will Rogers, to imitate his own language, "pulled a good one" when he cabled from League of Nations headquarters at Geneva:

"Well, we are all here ready for disarmament. The first laugh was when the Japanese delegation arrived."

A Japanese delegation, talking sweet peace at Geneva while Shanghai was being bombed from Japanese airplanes and battleships, seems slightly inconsistent.

Inconsistent also is the noble indignation of America and Europe denouncing Japan, considering that we have just concluded the biggest war in history, 20,000,000 killed, $250,000,000,000 squandered, half the nations of the world left bankrupt.

AMERICA AND BRITAIN yesterday announced a joint proposition "to end Chinese bloodshed, cessation of violence, no more war preparations, withdrawals of combatants, immediate negotiations for permanent peace."

Wall street took this talk seriously. Prices went down under the mistaken impression that talk can end war. Wall street agrees with the drunkard who on the morning after takes more whisky with the remark:

"The hair of the dog that bit you."

SPOKESMEN FOR New York bankers, suddenly turned austere, announce:

"We shall not make any loans to Japan or China to help them to finance this war."

Those bankers, having sent $35,000,000,000 to foreign countries in the last few years, to finance armaments and all sorts of things, probably feel that they have done their share.

NEW YORK banks, it is announced, will make no more shipments. They discover that our gold coin, taken in exchange for European or American paper money, is hoarded by Europeans.

This virtuous decision by the banks should be backed up by a government order FORBIDDING GOLD EXPORTS, not leaving the decision to any individual banker.

The banks have already sent out thirty-five billions of American money of which the greater part will probably not come back. It would be a little too generous now to ship what gold we have, thus reducing our remaining dollars to a value of 40 or 50 cents each.

The handling of the financial interests of the United States, which could have been done as well by the first Indian that Christopher Columbus saw on his arrival here, would make the angels laugh, if they ever do laugh. You don't find any French banker exporting French gold coins. He would go to jail if he tried it.

IF YOU COMMIT a murder and don't wish to be hanged, hire scientific experts. Mrs. Ruth Judd is accused of killing two women, cutting them up, packing them in a trunk and a valise. She confessed at first.

To prove it they say that she imagines herself the mother of children that she never had, and keeps a picture of one little boy, thinking it her son.

How the scientists connect "mother mania" with the chopping up of two women is not made clear. The cold-blooded prosecution says it is a combination of jealousy and gin, an explanation that sounds more probable than mother mania.

CHAMBERLAIN, BRITISH chancellor of the exchequer, repeats Great Britain's policy of "a general cancellation of reparations and war debts in order to settle the debt problems permanently."

Many a struggling American would like to settle his problems permanently by repudiating debts, mortgages, I. O. U.'s, etc.

However, call it by what name you please, WELCHING IS WELCHING. And sooner or later, some President of the United States will find a way to collect debts made to "highly honorable" statesmen, "standing with their backs to the wall," as a British chief general expressed it.

A FEW PAGES from the history of Andrew Jackson would supply useful suggestions.

This country could discontinue issuing passports to all European

GIRL TELLS OF THREAT BY ALLEN

Brother Warned Her He'd 'Blow Off' Head of Fiance, Sister Testifies

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—Rose Allen took the witness stand today in her brother's trial for the murder of her fiance.

As she passed the counsel table where Edward H. B. Allen, the defendant, sat gripping the edge of the table tensely, she murmured:

"Hello, Eddie."

As pale as death with the same purplish shadows around her eyes as encircle her brother's, she answered. District Attorney Nase's questions in a flat, resigned voice.

TELLS OF ENGAGEMENT

She said she was engaged to Francis A. Donaldson III, before his death.

"Did your brother know of this?"

"He did."

"What did your brother say on this matter on the night of November 9?"

"Edward said I was to announce my engagement at the first of the year."

Rose added that when she and "Skinny" Donaldson were engaged, they exchanged pins. She stood up to show the jurors that

JAPAN READY TO SCRAP TREATIES

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service.

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—Japan is planning at the disarmament conference now in session here to announce her withdrawal from the Nine-Power Pacific pact and also from the naval agreement negotiated at the Washington disarmament conference in 1922.

This will bring to an end all restrictive naval building treaties binding upon her until December 31, 1936, and permit her to embark upon a military, naval and air program to place herself on equal footing, at least, with the United States, Great Britain and France.

DISMAL FAILURE SEEN

Unless the Japanese government reconsiders, the disarmament conference, which opened here yesterday under the shadow of the Sino-Japanese fighting at Shanghai, certainly will end in dismal failure.

A member of the Japanese delegation today was asked by International News Service:

"Is it possible that Japan intends to withdraw from the Nine-Power pact and the Washington treaty?"

The Japanese replied:

American delegates admit they are perturbed, but declare they are not surprised at Tokio's plan.

Russians See Failure For Peace Efforts

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The Russian delegation to the disarmament conference, sitting in haughty isolation today in a British boarding house on Philosopher's road, in the outskirts of Geneva, summed up its reaction to yesterday's attempt to bring about peace in the Far East by saying:

"It won't do any good."

Yesterady's action of the powers, a spokesman for the delegation said, was only another of the series of fruitless steps taken by the League in recent months, "each of which resulted in a hop, skip and jump forward by the Japanese."

The spokesman for the Russians was emphatic in asserting the Soviets declined to be brought into the conflict. Pressed for Russia's plan for solving the Far Eastern conflict, he answered:

"Complete disarmament."

BULLETIN

SHANGHAI, Feb 4 (Thursday, 1 a. m.)—(INS.)—Japanese Marines early today captured the Woosung forts on the Whangpoo River, forcing the Chinese garrison of 1,000 men to retreat toward Kiangwan.

Shanghai's most severe battle raged today.

The Houston, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, had just arrived to protect Americans.

China accepted peace proposals advanced by the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Chinese guns from the forts at Woosung sent a Japanese destroyer to the bottom of the Whangpoo River, Chinese headquarters announced here tonight.

Chinese said the forts repulsed an effort to put ashore a landing party from Japanese destroyers, and in addition to sinking one of the craft scored damaging hits on two others.

At the same time the Japanese naval command repeated its assertion that the forts had been reduced to a pile of scrap iron and that more than a score of the defenders had been killed in the five-hour bombardment.

At nightfall the Japanese put out to sea and the Chinese indicated that they expected the attack would be renewed.

JAPANESE OPEN FIRE

The Japanese opened fire, apparently without warning, and announced after a brief bombardment that the forts had been destroyed and that they saw no signs of life.

British soldiers on a troopship passing up the river said, however, that the forts had returned the fire and that it was only by good luck that the troop ship was not struck by one side or the other.

Shells fell near the U. S. S. Parrott, a destroyer tied up alongside the Texaco oil barge in the Whangpoo. Others dropped close to the oil storage tanks of the Texaco Company and in the property of the British-owned Asiatic Petroleum Company on an island in the river.

Another report said Japanese airplanes flew over the area tonight and bombed a Chinese oil storage plant, setting it afire.

The United States cruiser Houston, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, arrived in the river just in time for the battle.

The Houston, which carried a landing party of 300 American Marines, was warned not to proceed directly to Shanghai, but to stay down the river beyond the forts to avoid entering the line of fire.

Afterwards the cruiser moved up the river to Shanghai and tied up before the city.

FORTS SHELLED

The fire upon the forts was directed from the guns of six destroyers. It covered a landing party of bluejackets sent to occupy the Chinese fortifications. While it was going on, Japanese airplane bombers roared over the Chapei district of Shanghai, scene of a bloody slaughter and destructive fire last Friday, and rained down bombs which resulted in fresh fires in a number of areas.

Observers who watched the battle from a distance said the area was a veritable inferno. At the same time Japanese machine gunners directed a steady stream of fire into the concentrations of the Chinese defenders in the Chapei section. Great clouds of smoke rose over the area where the Chinese troops battled desperately.

ON BOARD U. S. HOUSTON, off Woosung, Feb. 3. — (7:06 p. m.) — From this United States war ship, flagship of the American Asiatic squadron commanded by Admiral Taylor, I am watching the Japanese bombardment of the Woosung forts, 14 miles from Shanghai.

The Houston arrived under rush orders from Manila this afternoon to protect American citizens in Shanghai.

She passed the Woosung forts at 1:30 p. m. and is now in the Whangpoo River opposite Yangtzepoo.

CONSUL GOES ABOARD

Edwin S. Cunningham, United States consul general at Shanghai, came down the river in an admiral's barge this afternoon and boarded the flagship.

Official ceremony was suspended as Cunningham was piped over the side. Admiral Taylor received him and stretched out his hand. Cunningham said:

"I'm damn glad you got here."

The two retired at once to the Admiral's quarters for a secr

3 VALLEY BANKS FAIL TO OPEN

Three banks, the First National, of Pitcairn, the Peoples National, of Pitcairn, and the First National, of Trafford City, failed to open their doors this morning, following action by directors last night to protect creditors.

The three had total deposits approximating $1,600,000, according to B. J. Bleakley, national bank examiner in charge. A notice was posted on the doors of each institution that negotiations were underway whereby the First National Bank of Wilmerding contemplated purchase of sufficient assets of the closed banks to make available a substantial percentage of deposits to depositors soon.

2 Held for Sedition Win Pardon Fight

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—The long fight waged by the Civil Liberties Committee to free Peter Muselin and Tom Zima, convicted of sedition in Beaver County in 1927, ended when the State Board of Pardons today recommended their release from the penitentiary. They admitted membership in and sympathy with the communistic doctrines of Russia.

Originally four were arrested. One was acquitted and another was absolved by the State Supreme Court. The United States Supreme Court refused to entertain appeals.

Husband Gives Blood, Fails to Save Wife

James Carmichael's efforts to save his wife's life with a blood transfusion failed today. Mrs. Emma Carmichael, 32, died in Allegheny General Hospital.

Carmichael, who lives at 104 John street, Crafton, submitted to the transfusion last night. Mrs. Carmichael had been burned in her home Sunday when her clothes caught fire from a gas stove. Mrs. Carmichael leaves four children.

HOUSE CHEERS DEFENSE PLEA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Warned of "dark war clouds in the West," the House today applauded a demand that Congress take immediate steps to provide an adequate national defense.

Representative McFadden (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, making the plea for action, proposed that the $616,000,000 naval building bill, held up because of the current Geneva Conference, be reported. He asserted:

"Through the honeyed voices of pacifists we have abandoned our defenses. All the world is armed except us. The countries to which we extended a moratorium are armed. Our Army is but a skeleton, our air forces are poorly equipped except in men. We have allowed foreign diplomats to determine the size of our Navy."

Samuel P. Town, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of North Carolina, commander of the American Legion, were in the gallery as the House gave vent to its patriotic impulses. Both were introduced and applauded.

Governor Bryan Hurt By Fall on Pavement

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Gov. Charles W. Bryan is confined to his bed by injuries suffered when he slipped and fell on an ice-covered sidewalk. Physicians said his ribs were severely injured.

County Spurns Plane Bills For Babcock, Vets

Airplanes ran into heavy weather in the County Commissioners' meeting today.

A letter from the Curtiss-Wright Flying Corporation informed the new board that a trip which Ben Anderson, secretary to former Commissioner E. V. Babcock, and ex-Alderman John F. Kearcher took to Johnstown on August 10 for the purpose of rushing Babcock's nomination papers back to Pittsburgh in time for filing, had not been paid. The corporation suggested that somebody pay.

Chairman Charles C. McGovern said:

"Let them send the bill to Babcock. It was for flying to get nomination papers for him and then he never even ran."

Another plane ride was grounded when the Curtiss-Wright officials submitted a bill for $228 for the services of two planes used to advertise the 80th Division Veterans' Association reunion here last spring. The planes, another letter informed the Commissioners, had been ordered by W. L. Fleming, chairman of the reunion committee. McGovern said:

"We gave the 80th Division $20,000 for that convention. This bill is no concern of ours."

CHINA AGREES, JAPAN HOSTILE TO POWERS' PEACE PLAN

NEUTRALS' AID IN PARLEY OPPOSED

Hoover Awaiting Reply of Both Nations to Proposal Originated by Washington

International News Service.

NANKING, Feb. 3.—The Chinese government announced tonight that it accepted the proposal of the United States, British and other governments for the establishment of a neutral zone at Shanghai to end hostilities, and welcomed foreign intervention.

JAPAN TO MAKE OFFER

TOKIO, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Japan is unalterably opposed to any proposal for neutral participation in negotiations regarding Manchuria, Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the foreign minister, said tonight after consulting Prince Saionji, the oracle of Okitsu.

Tomorrow, he said, he will present to the diplomatic representatives of the powers participating in proposals to settle the Sino-Japanese conflict a reply which will be in the form of a series of counter-proposals, suggesting modification of certain points which Japan finds unacceptable.

The foreign minister talked for two hours with the 84-year-old prince whose advice always is sought when the empire's vital interests are involved, and as soon as he got back he went into conference with Premier Inukai. Later he announced he could not say whether a special cabinet meeting would be necessary to draft a reply to the powers' proposals.

MANCHURIA EXCLUDED

Japan, he said, refuses to consider the Manchurian problem in the same category with the present situation at Shanghai. He said:

"We are eager to maintain the friendship of the other great powers, but at the same time we must protect the rights and interests of Japanese citizens in China."

Japan cannot accept the fifth proposal of the powers providing for negotiations to settle Sino-Japanese controversies in the spirit of the pact of Paris, he said, because of the stipulation that neutral observers participate in negotiations which are intended to include the Manchurian issue. He said:

"Refusal to permit any third party to take part in the settlement of the Manchurian question is a fundamental principle of this government's policy, as it has been of former governments."

REPLY RECEIVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—China responded favorably today to the Anglo-American peace proposals, while Japanese naval guns thundered away at the Woosung fort, guarding Shanghai, and Japanese airplanes droned over the stricken city.

The State Department announced "a favorable reply" had been received from China, through the American consul at Nanking, Willis N. Peck, but no details were given by the department.

There was nothing from Japan except press dispatches and unofficial statements that Japan would reject one and probably two of the five points presented in the American and British notes of yesterday.

Whether China accepted the Anglo-American proposals en toto without reservations was not made clear, but the impression obtained that she had.

It was emphasized the United States has but one purpose in China, and that is the fullest possible protection of her citizens.

Troops are being sent there for that purpose, and more are to be sent if necessary, it was said; but there is no intention of joining with the powers in the use of force or the presentation of an ultimatum.

GERMANY ACTS

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Foreign office circles intimated today that the German government has instructed its ambassador at Tokio and its minister at Nanking to make verbal representations to the Japanese and Chinese governments in the interests of a peaceful solution of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Chinese Reduce Ransom Demands

PEIPING, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Ransom demands of bandits who are holding Capt. Charles Baker, American master of a Yangtze River boat, were reduced today from 10,000,000 silver dollars to $200,000 silver dollars plus 2,000 boxes of ammunition. Negotiations for Capt. Baker's release were continued.

SPEAKING OF UNEMPLOYMENT By Quin Hall

READY TO LOAN U. S. FUND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Going into formal action today backed by $2,000,000,000 of potential government money, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation cleared away technicalities and prepared to make loans to banks and corporations.

With $200,000,000 in applications for loans already before the corporation, immediate action will be taken today in emergency cases. How much money is involved in taking care of the emergency matters was not disclosed. Banks were understood to be chiefly in need of prompt credits.

The directors and officers of the corporation, headed by Governor Eugene Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, as chairman of the board, were installed at the old Department of Commerce Building. Applications for loans and for positions in the corporation were piling up rapidly.

Japanese Attacking U. S. Consul Jailed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The American legation at Peiping reported to the State Department today three Japanese who attacked Consul Culver B. Chamberlain during the Manchurian conflict had been punished.

The acting Japanese consul general notified the legation that Sakaibara, chief offender, was sentenced to three months in the army prison at Kokura, Japan, and the two soldiers involved with him were reprimanded.

10 Chinese Students At Purdue to Enlist

Ten of the 30 young men from China who are attending Purdue prepared today to leave to enlist in the movement to repel the Japanese.

Austria to Declare Debt Moratorium

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Dr. Richard Reisch, president of the Austrian National Bank, told International News Service tonight that Austria will be compelled to follow Hungary's example and declare a moratorium on foreign debts.

Marrying Squires Barred From Courthouse

Judge Ambrose B. Reid today insisted that there be no more marrying in the Courthouse by aldermen. When Myrtle N. Mavis, testifying in her divorce action against Joseph A. Mavis, told of being married in the Courthouse by "some alderman," Judge Reid said:

AMERICANS QUIT NANKING

NANKING, Feb. 3.—(Wednesday.)—(AP.)—Martial law was declared here at 10 a. m. today.

Japanese warships moved up the Yangtze River, while Chinese warships went in the opposite direction until they were eight miles apart, with British and American naval vessels between them.

American and British women and children began to evacuate Nanking this afternoon, traveling by boat to Shanghai. Foreign business men and missionaries had not yet decided to leave the city.

League War Probers Start for Shanghai

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—The neutral commission appointed by the League of Nations to study the situation in Shanghai sailed for the United States aboard the liner Paris today. The commission will proceed to the Far East by way of San Francisco.

United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge also was aboard the Paris. He declined to make any statement.

Poison Bullets' Use Charged to Chinese

MUKDEN, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Charges that poison bullets were used by Chinese soldiers against Japanese troops at Hsintaitzu were made in a communique from Japanese military headquarters here today.

NAVY'S HAWAII BAN STANDS

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 3.—(INS.)—As the United States battle fleet of 65 ships steamed under sealed orders from Los Angeles harbor to Hawaiian waters, Honolulu today expressed keen disappointment that the Navy had not revoked its order prohibiting shore liberty in this city for thousands of officers and enlisted men.

The fleet was scheduled to arrive Saturday.

Shore liberty was denied following a crime wave that resulted in attack by natives on several white women and the murder of a suspected gangster for which four Americans are held.

2,000 Chinese Start Flight From Kobe

KOBE, Japan, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Evacuation of Chinese from Kobe was under way today. Two thousand Chinese, most of them servants and their families, have already left.

Another U. S. Ship Sails for Shanghai

Chinese Uncrate Planes Shipped In 1920

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Chinese soldiers and engineers worked feverishly tonight attempting to assemble the Chinese air force equipment which was still in the packing cases in which it was delivered from England 12 years ago.

In 1920 the government ordered 130 airplanes fitted with powerful motors. The planes were shipped to be assembled in China but because of disorganization of the government no one would take the responsibility of putting them together and they were never unpacked.

They are considerably out of date now, but may still be made airworthy and the planes are capable of high speed.

GIBBONS' STORY OF SHANGHAI'S BATTLE

U. S. Marine Seizes Japanese Sniper as Shells Fall In American Quarter

conference over the Shanghai situation.

The conference was interrupted by an urgent wireless message from the Destroyer Parrott down the Whangpoo River, stating that Japanese shells were falling near the ship and in the vicinity of the American Texaco plant.

Admiral Taylor immediately dispatched an officer in a fast launch to the nearest Japanese warship to call attention to the Parrott's message.

Col. R. M. Hooker, commanding the United States Marines, joined in the conference.

Admiral Taylor is wirelessing Washington a full report on the Shanghai situation and the Woosung battle, based on his conversations with Hooker and Cunningham and his personal observations.

I asked the admiral whether he intended to land the 300 Marines aboard the Houston today to reinforce the 1,264 now at Shanghai. He said:

"No, the Marines will land at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Col. Hooker has the situation ashore in hand tonight."

Before I came aboard the Houston, American Marines ashore arrested a Japanese Marine caught sniping against the Chinese from the roof of a Japanese-owned flour mill in the American defense sector.

This offensive action by the Japanese within the American zone had previously been protested by the American Marine commander as exposing his troops to charges of belligerency against the Chinese and also in violation of the neutrality of the International Settlement.

The American forces do not object to the presence of Japanese guards on Japanese property in that part of the settlement which the United States Marines are assigned to defend, but they bitterly oppose the action of Japanese in firing over the heads of the American Marines.

The Japanese Marine commander is being notified of the arrest of the sniper and it is presumed will ask that the man be turned over to him.

NEUTRAL ZONE SHELLED

Four Japanese shells landed within the American defense zone during the shelling of Chapei at about 1 o'clock this afternoon. The firing was not believed to be intentional, the shells apparently being "overs" or long shots from a battery of small caliber Japanese demountable cannon.

One of these batteries, manned by a Japanese landing party, is located in the vicinity of a park in the Japanese defense zone.

The renewed Japanese attack this afternoon on the Chinese defenses in Chapei is considered a diversion to prevent Chinese forces there from going to the aid of the Woosung fort defenders.

The Woosung forts were old and dilapidated. They mount among other guns several six-inch pieces that have not been fired for 20 years.

There are never more than a few thousand men in the garrison and it is not believed there are that many there now.

There were no special defenses around the forts when I passed them four days ago coming up the river on a Japanese steamer. The position was vulnerable to attack from either the Yangtze or the Whangpoo rivers or from the land side in the rear.

Japanese cruisers and planes joined in subjecting the Woosung and Poochan forts to a terrific bombardment.

Grave fears for the safety of the Commercial Pacific and Eastern trans-Pacific cable plants, located between the two forts, were expressed by neutral authorities. They were openly exposed to the fire and were threatened with serious damage.

Alaska Demands U. S. Fortifications

SEWARD, Alaska, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Declaring Japan's ultimate goal was the conquest of Alaska, Mayor Carlos Brownell of Seward, today urged the federal government to take immediate steps to fortify this vast northland empire.

JAPANESE QUIT MARINE ZONE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—All Japanese troops are to be withdrawn from the sector policed by the American Marines in the International Settlement in Shanghai, Col. Richard S. Hooker, the American commander, notified the Navy Department today.

The news was received here with relief, for Japanese evacuation of the American sector is believed to lessen the chances of a Japanese-American clash.

In a message timed at 10:05 (eastern standard time) today, Col. Hooker reported:

"Definitely arranged for all Japanese troops to evacuate Marine (United States) sector commencing 8 a. m. Thursday, (7 p. m. Wednesday, eastern standard time). British finish taking over tonight at midnight (11 a. m. eastern standard time). Japanese retiring to central barracks Marine sector, where full evacuation will take place."

ATTACKS WIFE, TRIES SUICIDE

Crazed by brooding over unemployment, police say, Edwin R. Graham, 48, of 1006 Wymore street, former city electrician, beat his wife with a hammer and then tried to end his own life by stabbing in his home today.

Graham, who was laid off by the city January 1, was taken to the South Side Hospital where several stitches were taken in his head and neck, and then removed to Central station for observation.

His wife, Matilda, suffered bruises and scalp lacerations where her husband struck her, police reported. She was treated by a physician. Four children, ranging from 2½ to 8 years, were in bed in another room at the time.

Police said they learned that Graham also was worried over the prospective foreclosure of a mortgage on his home.

HARBIN'S FALL BELIEVED NEAR

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Gen. Jiro Tamon, sturdy, bespectacled hero, who took Tsitsihar, reached the outskirts of Harbin tonight and stopped there, preparing to enter the city tomorrow with the division of troops he took up from Changchun.

The critical situation at Harbin, where severe fighting has been going on for a week between local forces and the troops of Gen. Tingchao led Gen. Tamon to leave Sangcheng without waiting for the arrival of another brigade of his army.

The temperature was 30 below zero. Radio messages from Harbin said the sections of the city where most of the foreigners live were quiet and had not been disturbed by Tingchao's men who were concentrating on the old city and the barracks of the Chinese Eastern Railway guard, where 15 motor buses were held in readiness to retreat as the Japanese approached.

Japanese dispatches said Gen. Tingchao is determined to oppose the Japanese if they attempt to dominate Harbin, and North Manchuria, although he anticipates he will have to quit Harbin.

American Tourists See Bombardment

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Passengers on a round-the-world cruiser aboard the Dollar liner President Van Buren had an unexpected thrill today as witnesses of the battle of the Woosung forts in the Whangpoo River. They viewed the battle without being exposed to any danger.

French Arms Parley Chief Has Measles

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Joseph Paul-Boncour, head of the French disarmament delegation now in Geneva, was reported ill with measles today in his Paris home. Andre Tardieu probably will have to continue to replace Paul-Boncour at Geneva.

Shanghai Phone Girls Worry Tokio Consul

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Japanese Consul-General Murai has more serious things to worry about from the Chinese than their firing of guns.

With a twinkle in his eye, the consul-general told International News Service today that the greatest trouble the Chinese gave him came from the Chinese operators of the telephone exchange.

These operators, he said, are deliberately unusually slow in handling Japanese calls.

SISTER TELLS OF THREAT BY ALLEN

she still wore the dead lad's club pin over her heart.

Then she began the recitation of events of November 9.

"Edward came into my bedroom at 5 o'clock and told me Francis was not to come into the house any more. If he did, Edward said, he would blow his head off."

TOLD TO 'GET OUT'

"What did you say?"

"I said I did not like that, and he told me if I didn't like it I could get out. I said I would."

"What else did he say."

"I think he said he had a gun downstairs in the locker room."

Edward said his sister could not use the family automobile that night to leave the house—and he locked it, taking the key himself, she declared.

So Rose packed three bags and ate her dinner in the kitchen with the maid.

The girl talked casually but avoided Eddie's eyes. He watched her with obvious pain and embarrassment, blinking rather often and wrinkling his high forehead.

WARNS FIANCE

Rose told her brother she "did not care" about seeing him at a party next night, she continued. She went downstairs and waited in the lobby for Francis. She already had phoned "Gal" Lucas to summon her fiance.

Together Donaldson and Rose went to the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, and on the way into town the girl delivered her brother's threatening message.

"It was decided by the three of us that Gal and Francis should go out to Green Hill Farms. They left about 25 minutes of 9."

"That was the last time you saw Francis alive?"

"Yes."

She gasped as she uttered this last.

Then the District Attorney exploded a bombshell by rising to say:

"That's all."

Everyone had expected questions as to the girl's relations with Donaldson.

Before cross-examination could begin, Judge Harold G. Knight called a recess. Rose stood up hesitantly, looking around the room as if she did not quite know what to do. Eddie was led back to his prison before she had stepped down, so there was no opportunity for conversation between them.

WARSHIP SUNK BY CHINESE

Mural informed the American and British consuls general that the Japanese were occupying Woosung.

Shells fired from Chinese artillery in the Chapei sector fell in the Japanese headquarters near Hongkew Park, in the grounds of a boys' school and on the road leading to a rifle range, but they failed to explode.

Late in the afternoon Japanese airplanes joined the terrific bombardment of the Woosung forts, and a bombardment was also begun on the forts of Poochan. Observers believed that the two forts were doomed to complete destruction, and fears were entertained for the safety of the cable heads of the Eastern and Commercial Pacific companies, which are situated between them. The Great Northern cable head is located about a mile south of the Woosung fortifications.

There were reports that the Japanese warships in the river were landing nearly a full division of soldiers at a considerable distance from Shanghai and were shelling Chinese reinforcements advancing along the railway from Woosung.

ROOSEVELT TAKES STAND AGAINST LEAGUE OF NATIONS

N. Y. GOVERNOR SAYS GENEVA HAS FAILED

Opposes Debt Cancellation; Position Stronger Than Baker's, Friends Declare

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, today stepped before the nation four-square against American participation in the League of Nations and the cancellation of war debts.

Addressing the New York State Grange, Roosevelt completely renounced his advocacy in 1920 of the league. He said he was convinced the league no longer was an instrument for world peace as conceived by its founder, the late President Wilson.

After picturing the league as having become "a mere meeting place for the political discussion of strictly European political national difficulties" in which he said the United States should have no part, the Governor declared:

"The fact remains that we did not join the League. The League has not developed through these years along the course contemplated by its founder, or have the principal members shown a disposition to divert the huge sums spent on armament into the channels of legitimate trade, balanced budgets and payment of obligations.

WON'T END WAR

"American participation in the League would not serve the highest purpose of the prevention of war and a settlement of international difficulties in accordance with fundamental American ideals. Because of these facts, therefore I do not favor American participation."

In renouncing the League, Gov. Roosevelt, his friends declared today, has gone further than did Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, who may become his rival for the presidential nomination. Baker, Roosevelt's advisors insisted, contented himself by saying he did not favor American participation because the people were not ready for it, while the Governor has definitely and irrevocably rejected the League.

Roosevelt's advisors are hopeful his renunciation of the League will "clinch" the presidential nomination for him.

'DEBTS OF HONOR'

"The first lesson for all the world is recognition that a treaty is a nation's word of honor to another nation, and that all just national debts are 'debts of honor.'"

Asserting that many of the country's present ills are due to the Smoot-Hawley tariff law, Roosevelt suggested a trade conference with other nations. He added:

"Let me at the same time make it clear that a trade conference with the other nations of the world does not and should not, by any stretch of the imagination, involve the United States in any participation in political controversies in Europe or elsewhere."

Moses Asks Roosevelt Baker Views on Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who repudiated the League of Nations were called upon today by Senator George H. Moses (Rep.), of New Hampshire, to renounce the World Court.

Moses said:

"The Reno-like celerity with which Democratic leaders—and especially Democratic candidates—are seeking to divorce themselves from the League of Nations is interesting and amusing. It has apparently dawned on their consciousness that the 7,000,000 majority by which the American people repudiated this issue in both 1920 and 1924 has a validity as applied to the election of 1932.

"Death bed conversions, however, smack of the theatrical and are generally as unreal as most theatrical performances. As further evidence of the genuineness of the Democratic views which are now coming so belatedly to light, I suggest that there should be added to their renunciation of the League of Nations an equally emphatic renunciation of the League's pet baby — the so-called World Court."

Invention Holds Bottle for Baby

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—An invention, designed to end the necessity of holding "baby's" bottle while the youngster is feeding, is among the newly received contraptions on display at the International Patent Exposition. It is the invention of an earnest young father whose biceps grew tired of such a task. A wire frame, under which the child lies, holds the bottle in such a position that the stoking is automatic.

Saved by Oxygen, Baby Improves

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Feb. 3.—Jane Elizabeth Porter, 14 months, pneumonia victim kept alive for 132 hours by an inhalator, is on the road to recovery, her physician reported today. Vandergrift Heights firemen worked in four-hour shifts to save the baby's life.

FROZEN BODIES OF 2 FOUND ON MOUNTAIN

Climbers Lose Lives After Collapse in Storm; Lone Survivor in Hospital

TWIN MOUNTAIN, N. H., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The bodies of Ernest McAdams, of Stoneham, Mass., and Joseph Chadwick, of Woburn, Mass., were found by searchers today on Mt. Washington, where they dropped exhausted Sunday while trying to climb the mountain during a blizzard.

The bodies were found near what is known as the gulf tank on the Mount Washington cog railway about two-thirds of the way up the mountain.

Donald Higgins, 23, of Winchester, Mass., who was with McAdams and Chadwick, is under treatment at a Whitefield hospital where he is suffering from a frozen hand and face.

DOCTORS TELL OF DRY EVILS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Ninety per cent of prescriptions written by doctors today are merely for the purpose of bootlegging, Dr. Arthur D. Bevan, of Chicago, former president of the American Medical Association, told the Senate Metcalf Committee today.

His statement created a mild stir as he was called to testify on behalf of the prohibitionists.

He said this situation had greatly modified the attitude of the medical profession towards prohibition. He asserted:

"The government permits each physician to write 400 prescriptions a year. This makes it possible for a doctor to make $1,200 a year out of these prescriptions. A large number of doctors are not able to resist the temptation to sell them."

Dr. William F. Lorenz, psychiatric director at Wisconsin University, caused a second surprise by coming out in favor of outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Both physicians were expected to support the prohibitionists in their opposition to the Bingham bill to legalize 4 per cent beer.

RAIL MAN HELD IN MAIL THEFT

Albert W. Douglas, 43, of 314 Laurel street, Edgewood, baggagemaster on the Pennsylvania Railroad between Pittsburgh and Enrico, waived a preliminary hearing today before a United States Commissioner, charged with theft of $12,500 from a mail pouch in his custody, January 26.

In the pouch were two registered packages containing money sent by the First National Bank of Export to the Federal Reserve branch bank in Pittsburgh. Douglas had a key to the pouch according to postoffice authorities. When the pouch arrived at its destination the money was missing, it is alleged.

Douglas was arrested soon after the discovery of the missing money, on complaint of Postoffice Inspector George V. Craighead. Douglas has been in the employ of the railroad for 22 years.

JUDD DEFENSE FIGHTS CLAIM OF SANITY

Psychiatrist Hears Own Book Quoted in Effort to Upset View as to Trunk Slayer

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The ghost of Mendel and his hereditary law hovered over Judge Howard C. Speakman's little courtroom today as defense counsel sparred with a prosecution alienist over whether Winnie Ruth Judd is insane.

The teachings and axioms of the ancient monk were injected into the murder trial by Attorney Paul Schenck as he sought to break down yesterday's declaration of Dr. Paul E. Bowers, state psychiatrrist, that Mrs. Judd was sane on October 16 when, it is charged, she slew Agne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson.

QUOTES OWN BOOK

Leading the Los Angeles psychiatrist through questions of hereditary tendencies in insanity, Schenck produced "Manual of Psychology," a book written by Dr. Bowers eight years ago.

Under questioning of Schenck, Dr. Bowers admitted he agreed "in general" with a Mendelian chart of hereditary tendencies set forth in his book.

Schenck announced:

"Now we have here a chart of the defendant's family tree, which we will establish is in almost exact accord with the chart of Mendel."

Recalling testimony of the Rev. H. J. McKinnell, father of Mrs. Judd, that "my father's mother lost her mind—became insane," from worry over disappearance and death of her husband, Schenck demanded:

"Did you take into consideration that the paternal great grandmother of this defendant became insane from worry and shock?"

INFORMATION VAGUE

Bowers replied:

"No. I knew there was some insanity in the family—I didn't know just who."

"You knew there was a second cousin on the maternal side who died in an insane asylum—with dementia praecox?"

"I heard that in court—I didn't know what kind of insanity he had when I examined the defendant."

Pressed by Schenck, the witness said:

"I agree that from 40 to 50 per cent of insanity cases have a history of insanity behind them—heredity has a tremendous effect."

2 FLIERS DEAD, 14 MISSING

Associated Press.

Two pilots were dead today, one was critically injured and three planes with 14 persons were missing.

John W. Sharpnack, night air mail flier between Oakland, Cal., and Salt Lake City, crashed in a snowstorm Tuesday near Rio Vista, Cal., and was killed.

In his homemade plane, Albert Devore, Army aviation mechanic, fell 200 feet to his death at Laredo, Tex., on Monday.

Francis Rust, air mail pilot, was found Tuesday in the wreckage of his plane near Marcellus, Mich. Physicians said he would recover if pneumonia did not develop.

Off the coast of Florida, a Bimini Airways plane was sought with its five occupants. It has been unreported since Monday.

An Army lieutenant, Edward D. Hoffman, was missing between Glendale and San Francisco, Cal.

County Approves Time Clocks Use

At the County Commissioners' meeting yesterday, Supplies Director Ray Sprigle had three efficiency and money saving plans approved, one providing for purchase of three time clocks.

The time clocks are to be installed in the courthouse, new county building, Parkview and downtown county garage.

ARRESTS IN '31 SHOW DECLINE

For the first time in the history of prohibition, there was a decrease in the number of persons arrested for drunkenness, with 26,717 recorded for 1931 against 30,122 in 1930. Commenting on this, Supt. Walsh said:

"This is not because of any increased respect for the prohibition laws, but because people of the types usually arrested for drunkenness had no money to spend for their cheap moonshine this year. The prohibition laws still are failures."

Arson showed a slight increase, 14 arrests being made for that crime in 1931 compared with 10 in 1930.

There were 1,384 arrests for auto law violations in 1931 against 1,763 the year before.

DENIES STATE FOR ROOSEVELT

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—John R. Collins, Democratic state chairman, today gave scant credence to the prediction of Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, that an overwhelming number of Pennsylvania delegates would "go Roosevelt" in the national convention.

Collins dismissed the claim that 66 votes of Pennsylvania's 76 would be thrown behind Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, with the dry observation:

"I hardly see how any man in this state can carry 66 votes around in his vest pocket and deliver them to which candidate he chooses."

Culbertson Gives Tourney Cards to Aid Relief Fund

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(Universal.)—Ely Culbertson, bridge expert, presented to the New York American Christmas and Relief Fund, Inc., today $500 of his winnings in the recent Culbertson-Lenz bridge match.

At the same time he announced an additional gift to the fund of the playing cards that were used in the team match that held the attention of two continents for six weeks.

The cards will be sold at an auction, the details of which will be announced shortly.

At the outset of the bridge match Culbertson had announced that anything he might win, through bets on his team, he would donate to charity. He already had given $2,450 to the New York Infirmary for Women and Children. The $500 check represented the balance of his winnings.

Announcing the gift of the cards, Culbertson revealed that he had preserved them only with difficulty in the face of a demand for them as souvenirs from bridge enthusiasts in all parts of the world.

The call for the cards, he said, started soon after the match got under way in the Hotel Gotham. By the time the scene of play had shifted to the Waldorf-Astoria, he continued, bridge fans everywhere had joined in the clamor for souvenirs of the occasion.

In the match, a new deck of cards was used every hand. The decks were shuffled by West Point cadets, sealed at the military academy and sent to New York, to be opened only when they were about to be dealt.

QUAKES IN CUBA CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

Six Killed, 30 Injured in Santiago; Panic Causes Rumor of Huge Death Toll

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Early estimates of the casualties in a series of earth shocks which struck this city early today were found to be high with the issuance of an official announcement placing the number of dead at six and the number of injured at 30.

Property damage was extensive and few buildings escaped unscathed. The walls of a small maternity hospital collapsed and it was reported that a mother with new-born twins had been killed.

The first shock, shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning, affected only the business district, but word of the quake spread quickly and threw the city into a panic.

NO AMERICANS HURT

Immediately there came a flood of rumors which said 1,500 had been killed and at least many more injured. When cooler heads took hold the list of casualties melted away.

Mayor Aznar ordered the gas and electric services shut off to prevent fire and sent word to Havana that the local authorities could handle the emergency.

Nevertheless United States Ambassador Guggenheim started from Havana by air, a number of government officials headed for Santiago and relief organizations mobilized their facilities.

Very few Americans live in this vicinity and it was thought none of them had been hurt.

U. S. RUSHES AID

In quick succession lighter shocks followed the first. The walls of the pail fell in, but most of the inmates escaped, and those who were not hurt went to work with the police and such troops as were available, cleaning up the debris and standing guard to prevent the looting of wrecked buildings.

The two tall towers of the imposing cathedral were thought to have been cracked and it was feared they might topple into the street.

Help came by air from the United States fleet at Guantanamo and the naval doctors set up emergency stations for the injured.

The frightened residents of Santiago packed up enough food to last them for a while and went out into the open country. Stores were closed, train service was interrupted and there was practically no traffic on the streets.

SCHAD TO FACE TRIAL MONDAY

George J. Schad, former chairman of the Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and five others are to go on trial in Criminal Court Monday charged with conspiring to violate election laws through fraudulent assessments, District Attorney Andrew T. Park announced today.

The others scheduled to face the court are C. J. McBride, secretary of the tax board; Frank Alpert, a subordinate assessor; Samuel L. Ramsey, assistant chief clerk of the board; Paul Walsh, First Ward Constable and son of Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, and Sol Klein, a battalion fire chief.

McBride, whose correct name is Cornelius J., was indicted as "Charles J." Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk, questioned as to the effect this would have on the legality of the proceedings against McBride, said he did not believe it would matter.

Following the Schad trial, four election boards, charged with violating election laws are to face the court.

Moscow Food Prices Soar, Butter $1.14

MOSCOW, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Prices of food and clothing, as well as other manufactured articles, went up 20 to 100 per cent in Moscow by government order yesterday, making butter about $1.14 a pound and shoes $50 a pair.

The increase in food prices averaged 20 to 25 per cent and that for clothing from 25 to 100 per cent.

Reds Stone Japanese Legation in Athens

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Communists today stoned the Japanese legation shouting, "down with Japanese imperialism, long live Stalin."

Police dispersed the crowd, using their batons freely. No one was injured or arrested. The damage to the legation building was said to be slight.

WOMAN SUES CLOSED BANK

C. O. Thomas, receiver of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., was named defendant in an action filed in Federal Court yesterday by Olive Hume Oliver, of Sewickley, in which she asks to be declared a creditor of the bank with a claim of $105,402, and that the receiver be ordered to pay her a ratable dividend of 50 per cent of the claim. She also asks a decree giving her a lien on mortgages held in trust by the bank.

The action, according to the statement of claim, grew out of a $100,000 trust fund established at the bank by the plaintiff, June 10, 1930. The plaintiff avers she entered into a written agreement with the bank by which it was to act as trustee of the fund, to be invested in first mortgages. The beneficiaries of the fund were William Hume Oliver and Martha Jane Oliver.

Under the terms, it was declared, the plaintiff could terminate the agreement at any time and could add or withdraw money if she wished. Additional deposits brought the trust fund up to $105,402 on September 19, 1931, not including interest or income arising from the fund.

countries welching on their war debts of honor, and at the same time notifying Americans living and spending abroad that unless they returned to the United States within six months they would not thereafter be admitted and appropriate steps would be taken in the line of special taxation that would interest them.

This would keep in the United States enough money, now spent abroad, to offset the war debts satisfactorily. It would bring back to the United States Americans that prefer living in some other country, or compel them to stay out permanently, including one American who has invested American millions in another Riviera gambling house that was not necessary.

DENIAL MADE IN DOPE TRIAL

James Lancia, of Bedford avenue, a Hill politician on trial before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar on a charge of violating the government narcotic law, yesterday from the witness stand denied allegations of government witnesses that he was involved in drug traffic.

On October 23, the day government narcotic agents said they saw Joe Lecastro, another defendant, get a bag containing morphine from an automobile in which Lancia was riding, the latter was acting as chauffeur for David L. Lawrence, Democratic leader here, Lancia testified. Lancia said he drove for Lawrence from October 10 to the day before election and worked at the Democratic headquarters at noon. Lawrence corroborated Lancia's testimony on driving his car.

Lancastro and Salvatore Corsello, a defendant, also went on the stand in their own behalf. The case will go to the jury today.

FALL REFUSED PAROLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Albert B. Fall must stay in prison to the bitter end of the term imposed on him for accepting a $100,000 bribe while Secretary of the Interior.

Last night the Federal Parole Board declined to shorten his sentence of a year and a day, plus $100,000 fine. The two men and one woman who compose the board announced their decision with the observation that Fall's release now would be "unjustifiable and incompatible with the welfare of society."

Fall, 70 years old, is in the New Mexico State Penitentiary at Santa Fe, the first cabinet member in the history of the nation to be convicted of crime. Allowing time off for good behavior, his term will end next May 8, but either the fine must be paid then or he must take a pauper's oath, or he must remain incarcerated for an extra 30 days. He was the only man convicted in the long series of trials which followed the oil land lease scandal of the Harding administration.

SALESMAN ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

Albert Gawinske, 40, real estate salesman, of 2419 Osgood street, ended his life by firing a bullet into his head today in the office of the Regina Candy Company, 819 Federal street, in the temporary absence of the proprietor, John Kyrimes, police reported. Helen Klappas, an employe, heard the shot and ran across the street to a barber shop and notified her employer. Gawinske had been despondent because of poor business and ill health, police said they learned.

BIBLE MESSAGE FOLLOWS BOMB

KANE, Pa., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Dr. H. J. McGhee's home was bombed Saturday morning. Today he received a postcard bearing these printed quotations from the Bible:

"The way of the transgressor is hard; vengeance is mine, I will repay."

The postcard, mailed from a railroad train, is the first clue in the bombing. It was turned over to police.

AUTO HITS POLE, WOMAN HURT

Mrs. O. E. Schoettle, of 5608 Wilkins avenue, was injured early today when an automobile, driven by her husband, crashed into an iron pole in Forbes street at Beeler street.

Schoettle was not injured. He told police he lost control of his car as he attempted to turn into Beeler street. Mrs. Schoettle was removed to St. Francis Hospital, suffering from head and back injuries.

DENY HUBBARD SITE IS PARK

Acting under orders from Council's Committee on Finance, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang today was to inform the City Planning Commission that property near the Brilliant pumping station, leased to John W. Hubbard for a sand and gravel dock, was not part of the municipal park system.

The commission protested Monday to Council that leasing of the site along the Allegheny River for an annual rental of $400 was not in conformity with good legal practice.

When the communication was read, President John S. Herron asserted:

"You have to stretch your imagination a great deal to imagine this section a part of the public park system. It is separated from the rest of the system by a railroad."

$4,000 SOUGHT FOR MINE FIRE

A $4,000 emergency appropriation will be asked of City Council by Public Works Engineer Tom M. Reed, Monday, to continue the job of extinguishing a mine fire on the McShane property, near the Crafton borough line, Reed said today.

Nearly $50,000 has already been so spent, 25 per cent appropriated by Crafton. The fire is in the Twenty-eighth Ward, near Baldwin road, and has been burning for years. Scores of homes have been endangered.

Alice White on Air Last Time Tomorrow

Alice White, the movie star, appearing in person at Loew's Penn Theater this week, will bid her Pittsburgh friends goodbye tomorrow evening during the Globe Trotter program over WCAE.

Miss White, who has been giving radio fans the methods of Hollywood cameramen in obtaining trick shots, and who has been answering questions asked by readers of this newspaper, will not appear before the microphone today.

Westinghouse Club To Hear Williams

Whiting Williams, author and industrial consultant, will speak on "The Art of Handling Men" before members of the industrial management course at the Westinghouse Club, Wilkinsburg, tonight. Williams labored in coal mines and steel plants in the United States and Europe for four years, during which time he lived with his fellow workers. He was a former assistant to the president of Oberlin College.

5 Aliens Deported To Native Lands

Immigration inspectors, Department of Labor, last night left for Buffalo with five aliens, where today they will be placed aboard a deportation train enroute to St. Johns, New Brunswick, to be placed on vessels going to their native countries. In the Pittsburgh party were three Czechoslovakians, a Belgian and a Rumanian.

CHINESE HERE SCORE JAPAN

Chinatown's tong wars were forgotten today, so that enemies of years might unite in their deep-seated feeling against Japan.

Along Second and Third avenues in downtown Pittsburgh, the Chinese today have but one great interest as they play their card games and sell Chinese goods. That interest is the invasion of their land by an enemy who they feel is trying to conquer all their land.

Their feelings are interpreted by Willie Yot, more formally known as William Hing Yot, secretary of the On Leong Chinese Merchants' Association. Says he:

"There was never an invasion of a country on less excuse than Japan's. The Japanese are taking advantage of the military they have been building up for years. Their excuse is that they want to protect their citizens and their possessions against the highwaymen, but they are the real highwaymen.

"Our people here in Pittsburgh have no other interest right now. We will do everything we can to help. We know that China eventually will triumph because it is in the right."

Equally concerned in China's plight is young Clement Wang, president of the Chinese Student Association. The local boycott against Japanese goods is not enough, let there be an international boycott, he urges.

Find Pittsburgher Slain in Detroit

John J. Kenney, 37, formerly of 328 Russellwood avenue, West Park, who left here a month ago to obtain work in Detroit, was found dead, his body covered with snow, under an open apartment hotel window there yesterday, according to word received here. Police said they believed he had been poisoned and thrown from the window. Except for odd jobs he had been unemployed it was said.

Two Pittsburgh Women Visit Cairo

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Bennett Rogers and Miss Selma Benkart, of Pittsburgh, now on a world cruise in the S. S. Franconia, arrived today at Port Said, Egypt, according to word received here. They will spend several days in Cairo and will depart Friday for Bombay.

Film Man Takes Separation Blame

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—B. P. Schulberg, managing director of Paramount Motion Picture Company's west coast production, said last night that he and Mrs. Schulberg had separated after 18 years of married life.

Schulberg said:

"It is all my fault. I have a nervous temperament that few of my business associates suspect. As usual with busy husbands, I 'let off steam' at home with entirely unconscious unfairness."

Man Held Up By 4 On 33rd St. Bridge

Charles Dobb of 3033 Wayne street, was slugged and robbed of $10 by two Negroes and two white men early today as he was crossing the Thirty-third Street Bridge. He was removed to St. Francis Hospital suffering from a cut over the right eye and a sprained wrist.

Army Man Killed In Home-Made Plane

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Victim of the failure of a home-made airplane to perform properly, Albert Devore, a mechanic in the Army Air Corps is dead today. He was killed when his privately-assembled machine fell 300 feet.

PARTY VICTORY SEEN BY SMITH

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Victory, said former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in a radio talk last night, is within reach of the Democratic party, "which today is the majority party."

He said the winning of the 1932 election is possible because of the work done for two and a half years in Washington under the leadership of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Smith declared:

"If you let someone keep telling you that as long as the Republican party is running things there'll be a car in every garage and everlasting prosperity, you get to believe it after a while. That is, unless you know the other side of the story."

SENATE PLANS COMPROMISE ON RELIEF

Democrats Ready to Urge $375,000,000 Loan to States, Like Sum for Roads

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A new compromise unemployment relief bill, combining a $375,000,000 appropriation for federal loans to states with another $375,000,000 fund for federal aid roads, met the "general approval" today of the Democratic steering committee of the Senate.

The Democrats will support this bill as a substitute for the La Follette-Costigan measure which would authorize $375,000,000 for contributions to the states in relieving unemployment. The compromise measure totaling $750,000,000 would eliminate direct relief and substitute loans on the one hand and road appropriations on the other.

NEEDS G. O. P. AID

Owing to factional splits the bill must gain administration support to be enacted.

Warning the Senate that its refusal to authorize direct federal aid for the unemployed would open a black chapter in American history, Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado, late today urged immediate enactment of the La Follette-Costigan bill providing federal appropriation of $375,000,000 for unemployment relief. He said:

"The issue may be postponed by a reluctant, timid or suppliant majority of the Senate, driven or hypnotized by the allurements or hostility of the White House, financial or industrial interests, but it cannot be evaded.

RIGHT TO LIVE

"It involves nothing less than the inalienable right of American citizens to life.

"Let it once dawn on the understanding of our people that a majority of those in this chamber are willing to see men, women and children perish for lack of federal aid under the source of economic disaster and a new and black chapter of American history will open."

Costigan declared testimony of social workers and other experts at the Senate hearings on the unemployment relief bill showed the lives of countless American citizens are today as definitely in danger as if menaced by flood, famine, fire and earthquake.

Policeman Kills 2 Suspects in Battle

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—A battle between two men said to have been attempting to force their way into a cafe, and a policeman, had resulted in the deaths of Robert Bridges, 30, and William Morrisarity, 29, today.

The two were shot by Policeman Harvey McArthur, an ex-Marine, who was summoned to the cafe by the proprietor.

RELIEF STUDIED BY LUTHERANS

The Rev. C. E. Krumbholz, the new superintendent of the Lutheran Inner Mission Society, and his assistants are completing plans for a wider relief for the Pittsburgh needy. Mr. Krumbholz, who comes from New York City, succeeded the Rev. S. C. Michelfelder, who was transferred to Toledo, O.

With a total expenditure of $122,397.71 for the year of 1930, and an anticipated larger amount for last year, the society has taken care of approximately 118,000 people in Morganza, Woodville, Allegheny County Jail and hospitals.

Through the society, with offices in the Pittsburgh Life Building, a committee of local citizens are sponsoring the appearance of the internationally known St. Olaf Choir, of Northfield, Minn., at Carnegie Music Hall, February 12.

Besides Mr. Krumbholz, Walter Demmler, vice president, and Miss Alice Schwartz, secretary of the society, are completing plans for the current year. The society represents 300 churches in Western Pennsylvania.

PENNA. BACKING HOOVER--REED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, said yesterday he believed a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican national convention will be "ardently" for President Hoover's renomination.

A Hoover man himself, Reed said he expected to be a candidate for delegate-at-large from his state in the April primary, declaring:

"No significance can be read into the decision to seek uninstructed delegates to the national convention in Pennsylvania. That's a Pennsylvania tradition.

"All the delegates will be technically uninstructed, including myself if I am elected. I am heartily for the President's renomination, but if I go to the convention I will be technically uninstructed."

DRIVE PUSHED FOR SALES TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Pressure for a sales tax affecting many articles as a means of helping to meet the huge Treasury deficit grew in the House today as the Ways and Means Committee continued hearings on a tax program.

Representative Crisp (Dem.), of Georgia, acting chairman, served notice that he will urge adoption of a sales tax on electricity of 5 to 10 per cent on bills of consumers.

Witnesses representing several industries advocated the sales tax as a substitute for the proposed taxation of selected lines of business to provide revenue.

Belief that the committee is leaning strongly to a tax on foreign oil was expressed following one day's hearing on the question.

Fechet Defense Plea In Congress Record

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(Universal.)—The article by Gen. James E. Fechet, former chief of the Army Air Corps, deploring proposals to weaken national defense, printed Sunday in the Hearst newspapers, was read into the Congressional Record by Representative Connery (Dem.), of Massachusetts. Connery served notice he would fight any plan to reduce America's small army. He said:

"I know I will receive the support not only of former service men in the House, but of men on both sides who are friends of national defense and who wish America to be prepared."

MELLON, REED ON STATE SLATE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The state Republican organization has selected six of the seven persons whose candidacies will be supported for election as delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention at Chicago next June.

They are Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, United States Senator David A. Reed, Mrs. Margery Scranton, Scranton, national committeewoman; William S. Vare, Philadelphia; Gen. Edward Martin, Washington, state treasurer and chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Jay Cooke, Philadelphia, national committeeman.

The seventh candidate for delegate-at-large will be selected soon, Gen. Martin said.

The seven candidates for election as alternate delegates-at-large will be selected soon from the ranks of the women members.

Gen. Martin said today that the state organization this year will take a hand in the primary election because of its desire to obtain the election of candidates pledged to the strictest economy consistent with sound government.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

A group of society women who belong to the board of the Woman's Exchange, Penn avenue, where the work of deserving women is sold, is very busy this week with a markdown sale. Everything in the needlework department and all handpainted articles are on sale. And Valentine candy is being featured, too.

Among the women directing the sale are Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., Mrs. W. B. Trainer, Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon, Mrs. David Marshall and Mrs. B. J. Jones III.

Guest at Luncheon

Mrs. Howard N. Eavenson, of Bayard street, is giving a small luncheon today in honor of Miss Neil Stewart, who, with Mrs. H. P. Pears, is leaving for Fenwey, Dunedin, Fla. Mrs. Walter Chess gave a farewell luncheon for Miss Stewart, too.

Ruth Willock is with Madelaine Alexander at the Alexanders' Palm Beach place. In the middle of the month they'll be joined by Rebecca Doyle and Rosamound Fitch.

Mrs. J. Frederic Byers is in Aiken after having visited Palm Beach. She'll go to New York Friday, I hear.

* * *

Mrs. James B. Laughlin and Miss Alice D. Laughlin have gone to Santa Barbara, Cal., after spending a few days in New York, stopping at the Barclay. The William M. Robinsons have been at the Savoy-Plaza, New York.

* * *

Seen at Theater

Sitting in one of the boxes last night at the Nixon when Otis Skinner and Maude Adams appeared in "The Merchant of Venice," was Mrs. Homer Saint-Gaudens, wearing a simple white crepe evening gown, and a string of pearls as her only ornament.

Mrs. John W. Lawrence appeared in black velvet with a band of rhinestone embroidery outlining the V decolletage and the hem-line.

Representing the younger set were Frances Fitzgerald in candy pink satin, having a cascade of ruffles on the skirt suggestive of the bustle era, and Frances Forsyth in rose satin with a cowl drapery of eggshell satin. Others there were Mrs. Ralph T. Fowles, Harriet Wainwright and Rebekah George.

Slides Shown

The second of a series of three meetings arranged by the Civic Club of Allegheny County for members in suburban districts took place last night in the home of Mrs. J. G. Pontefract, of Shields. Colored slides and movies of Zion, Bryce and Grand Canyon national parks were shown by Randall L. Jones.

Society women attending were Mrs. Clinton Childs, Mrs. Wallis Tener, Miss Katherine Walker, Mrs. James B. Oliver, Miss Catherine Miller, Thomas Liggett, Gilbert A. Hays, the Ralph W. Harbisons and Wilson A. Campbell.

Others there were the Max Henricis, Rev. Harry R. Browne, Mrs. John Joy Edson, Jr., the George H. Clapps, the S. G. Coopers, Miss Dorothy Liggett, the William Walkers, Mrs. James B. Umbstaetter, Dan Nevin and Herbert Walker.

B. P. W. CLUBS TO TAKE CRUISE

Convention of State Federation To Be Held on Lake Trip

Leave it to the Business and Professional Women's Clubs to do something original. The Pennsylvania Federation of B. P. W. Clubs will do just that when it holds its annual convention in the form of a four-day cruise aboard the S. S. Tionesta, sailing from Erie, June 27. Mrs. Helen W. Schluraff, of Erie, former state president, is to be convention chairman of the floating meeting, which is thought to be the first woman's convention of its kind. Stopovers will be made at Detroit and Mackinac Island. State conventions are always attended by a number of Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg delegates and it is probable that the attendance will be larger than usual this year on account of the novelty.

Club Notes

Russia Studied

Continuing its study of "The Passing of Kings and the Progress of Democracy," the Woman's Literary Club of Bellevue took up "Russia" as the topic at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. G. W. Seaman opened with a talk on "Pre-War Russia," furnishing a fitting background for the later papers, including one by Mrs. John McGill on "The Last of the Czars." Mrs. J. M. Simpson concluded the program with a discussion of Soviet Russia.

Mrs. J. Smith Christy, of Ralph avenue, was hostess for the meeting and also at luncheon preceding it.

* * *

Duquesne Meeting

At the February meeting of the Duquesne Women's Civic Club, held last night, Miss Miriam Schonfield spoke on club ethics. Other program features were numbers by the choral under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Osborne and solos by Mrs. Elizabeth Hirschberg and Miss Mary Alice Moss.

* * *

Washington's faith and courage as an example to be followed today were stressed by Dr. Russell I. Ferguson in his talk at the Health Colony Club's bicentennial celebration in the Congress clubhouse yesterday. The celebration took the form of a luncheon, with Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane as chairman. Mrs. Robert L. Finlayson presented Miss Susan F. Meyers, soprano soloist, and Martha Meyers Murdock, pianist and accompanist. Honor guests who spoke briefly were Dr. Thomas S. H. Stites, of Cresson Sanitarium; Dr. Joseph Shilene, of Leech Farm; Mrs. T. M. Stahlman, president of the Congress of Clubs, and Mrs. S. M. Byers, of the State Federation.

To Meet Saturday

Miss Elizabeth Frost, chairman of hostesses, will be assisted by Mrs. Alan Albright and Dr. Elizabeth Collette when the Ohio State University Women's Club meets at the Congress for luncheon and bridge on Saturday.

* * *

Mrs. J. M. Norris, of Browns Place, entertained the Prytaneum Study Club yesterday afternoon. The three papers were presented by Mrs. W. F. Stevens, whose topic was "National and International Relations;" Mrs. Frank Toy, who discussed the Sino-Japanese situation, and Mrs. M. A. Coon, who told something of the life of Mary Woolley, delegate to the Disarmament Conference.

* * *

Dr. F. C. Jordan, of the Allegheny Observatory, is speaking this afternoon before the Woman's Club of Carnegie Institute of Technology, having "This Mysterious Universe" as his subject. The meeting is, of course, in the Faculty Club and Mrs. E. K. Collins is chairman of hostesses.

High Prices Charged To Erie Poor Board

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 3.—(INS)—Excessive prices for food are being charged by the poor directors, a complaint to Harvey M. Willis, county controller, said. The directors, in lieu of cash, distribute food to needy in return for work for the board. The complainants say the Poor Board charges more for goods than independent stores.

Vandergrift Cuts Tax to 18 Mills

11 Autos Burned In Oil City Blaze

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 3.—Eleven automobiles were burned and 25 cars saved in a $25,000 fire in the Warren Motor Company garage this morning. Other places damaged were Charles Harrah's furnishing store, Jake's restaurant, Boyle's electric shop, Latonia Theater and a half dozen offices.

Seek Two Bandits In Store Holdup

Police and detectives today were seeking two Negroes who last night held up the P. H. Butler store at 1706 Wylie avenue, and escaped with $52. According to detectives, one of the men covered the manager with a revolver while the other took the money from the cash register.

Lions Will Hear Talk on Lighting

Lights and lighting will be discussed before the Lions Club of Pittsburgh at its luncheon tomorrow in the Fort Pitt Hotel, by C. J. Campbell, of the Westinghouse Lamp Company.

Mendall Refused Freedom for Flight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—A federal Judge yesterday jailed Flier Loren Mendall instead of permitting him to soar around the world in search of a new speed record.

Mendell, who once held the world's endurance flight record, was ordered to begin a 12-month county jail sentence for conspiracy to smuggle aliens across the Mexican border. Judge George Cosgrave refused an attorney's motion for modification of sentence on the ground that plans had been made for a world flight by Mendall.

Justices Roberts, Van Devanter Ill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Associate Justices Owen J. Roberts and Willis Van Devanter, of the Supreme Court, are in a hospital for treatment of conditions resulting from earlier ailments.

Justice Van Devanter had his tonsils removed and was expected to leave the hospital today. Justice Roberts entered the same hospital for convenience in treatment of muscular adhesions which had been causing him trouble as result of breaking his arm in an automobile accident last summer.

Man Held, Accused Of Stealing Rings

Police today were holding Charles Pringle, 37, of 6461 Aurelia street, accused of stealing two rings valued at $500 from the home of J. E. Morrow, 2535 West Liberty avenue. Pringle was arrested in his home by Detectives George Lehrman and William Reese, who said he took the rings while employed in the place as an interior decorator.

Prize Pigeons Stolen From Mifflin Loft

Mifflin Township police today had an unusual robbery to solve. Somebody stole a half dozen prize pigeons from the loft of John Phibbs in Bellwood road.

Former 50c package now 35c

KLEENEX users—here's great news! A striking price reduction in Kleenex Tissues—those soft, delectable, cloth-like squares that you find so useful a dozen times a day.

The regular price of that big box—formerly 50c—is now but 35c. A third less! The same smart, sparkling package! The same number of tissues! The same soft, cloth-like quality! Only the price has changed!

The reason

This great price reduction is due directly to the enormous increase in the number of Kleenex users. Twice as many people at least are using Kleenex as there were a year ago. So the price goes down for all!

At this new low price you'll find Kleenex more useful than ever. Let the whole family use it for handkerchiefs.

Let Kleenex make your beauty care more effective. Use it for removing face creams. Use a tissue every time you put on make-up, to blend the edges naturally into the skin

Kleenex makes the care of infants so much easier. Doctors recommend it. Buy several packages at this new low price! Put a package in every room in the house. Another in the automobile. No reason now for skimping! Every drug, dry goods and department store has Kleenex.

FOR COLDS . . . Kleenex always, in place of handkerchiefs! It costs so little that you use and destroy, thus avoiding self-infection. No laundering.

FOR BEAUTY . . . use Kleenex for removing cleansing cream. You need the remarkable absorbency of Kleenex, to assure complete removal of all dirt along with cleansing cream. Saves staining and ruining towels.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

SON OF GANDHI GIVES UP BRIDE

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The arrest of young Devi Das Gandhi, youngest son of the disobedience leader, has revealed that his patriotism triumphed over his romance with a beautiful 19-year-old girl.

The handsome, olive-skinned son of the Mahatma deliberately courted arrest for civil disobedience, it was revealed today, almost on the eve of his marriage to the daughter of C. R. Rajago-Palachari, former president of the Indian National Congress, and one of his father's closest political friends.

Imprisoned here when he deliberately attempted to go to the northwestern frontier, where the government is taking severe measures to suppress the Indian Nationalists, Devi Das thus put devotion to ideals above his personal love affair.

Devi Das argued that, while he was deeply attached to his fiancee, it would not be right for him to covet happiness in marriage while his father and mother and older brother were in prison.

Unions Oppose Wage Of Relief Workers

A delegation of union labor representatives headed by P. J. McGrath has registered protests with the County Commissioners against the methods of the Allegheny County Emergency Association in employing men to do skilled labor. Representatives of the Carpenters' and Tile Setters' unions told the Commissioners at their meeting yesterday that work which the union men get $10 and $12 a day for is being done by the relief laborers for as little as $10 a week.

Crafton Girl Hurt, Woman Wrecks Car

Alice Pickard, 7, of 232 Steuben street, was injured seriously today when, on leaving St. Philip's Catholic Church, she was struck by an auto in Steuben street, Crafton. She was rushed to Mercy Hospital, where it was said her skull probably was fractured. In trying to avoid the child, the driver, Mrs. D. T. Felix, of 1132 Princeton avenue, Crafton, crashed into a pole and was herself bruised, police reported. The police said Mrs. Felix was charged with reckless driving.

Prowler Captured Under Girl's Bed

A burglar suspect who hid under the bed of Jennie Marguka, 18, of 317 Fifth avenue, Rankin, was held today by police after the girl's screams resulted in his capture by her father and brother, last night, according to police.

Frank Boddie, 36, Negro, of 606 Sixth street, North Braddock, the suspect, told police he hid under the bed when he was frightened by a noise in the house. He was held on a suspicious person charge.

10,000 Ohio Pupils To Be Fed by State

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Ten thousand Ohio school children who have been going hungry, will be fed by the state.

The state unemployment and relief committee announced it would start serving two free meals, today to children in Athens County, where 7,000 bituminous coal miners are now on strike against a wage reduction. Later the work is to be extended to all sections of the state.

G. A. Bragg Funeral Set for Tomorrow

Funeral services for Gilbert Albion Bragg, 40, general manager of the Koppers Research Corporation and well-known chemical engineer, who died yesterday, will be held at he home, 6666 Woodwell street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Better than "Secret Studio" "Forest Love"

Embers of Love

by Hazel Livingston

Honeymooning—Lily Lou and Ken—both of them twenty years old—young love, beautiful, delicious, imperishable.

And then his father said: "Come back!"—and the court granted an annulment. Her house of dreams came tumbling down upon Lily Lou.

Read this novel in which the brilliant author assails what she regards as a great social evil.

WE NOW PRESENT

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

EMERIC G. D., Jr., Uniontown, sends a razz to this column for not encouraging local stations to broadcast late dance music from NBC and CBS; suggests that announcers when signing off tell the time when said orchestra returns to the air again; hints most orchestras on the air "lack originality" with the exception of Ben Bernie, Morrie Sherman, Vincent Lopez, Guy Lombardo and Jimmy Grier; declares the most inhuman thing about the radio the last two weeks has been the overplaying of "Was That the Human Thing to Do?" and advises us he keeps a scorecard of the number of times popular numbers are played; ha-has and hee-hees at announcers who claim credit for being the first to announce certain songs on the air when they have been played or sung numerous times before and takes a Chicago announcer to task particularly for crediting "Body and Soul" to "a picture by the same name, when, really, the song is from 'Three's a Crowd' and the motion picture, featuring Charles Farrell, didn't have a song in it!" and winds up by saying "My one big compliment for the Sun-Telegraph is to say that I've never found a newspaper I would rather read (and I've been to practically all the large cities in the United States). I especially enjoy Walter Winchell, Mark Hellinger, O. O. McIntyre, Arthur Brisbane, Elsie Robinson, Helen Rowland and 'We Now Present.'"

Emeric's letter, eight pages long, also defends the crooners—Jarrett, Crosby and Vallee.

There's food for thought in his suggestion to orchestra leaders for making their programs "different."

This is Emeric's suggestion for a courtroom scene musically portrayed over the radio—

The Judge pronounces the prisoner "Guilty" and the unfortunate one asks "Is That the Human Thing to Do?" whereupon the judge uses Isham Jones' new song—"Let That Be a Lesson to You!"

Thank you, "Emeric G. D."—until your next letter—thank you!

Question a Day:

Studio Lights

We've asked Walter Winchell to check and doublecheck on his statement that an electrical transcription is used to introduce Amos 'n' Andy on the network . . . , when in Chicago last June we watched Bill Hay and a string sextet do their part of the broadcast from an adjoining studio at WMAQ . . .

Ben Bernie's "limerick" idea on the radio is novel, to say the least. . . . Ben remarked last night that China had sent for Winchell to take charge of Peking . . . . not bad. . . .

There were tears in the eyes of many when the Sponsor's "farewell" was read during "Sacred Songs" last night . . . . but all the tears collectively could not express the sorrow in the Sponsor's heart. . . . Her husband? . . . You'd know in a minute if we told you. . . .

Stephen Leyshon made the first mistake of his radio career last night when, hurrying to beat the second hand of the studio clock, he said "Will Rogers" for "Will Rhodes" . . . . then corrected his error. . . .

Edwin Whitney, the Ponce Sisters and Rex Carlton's Collegiates produce a special "Big Time" program on WEAF, WGY, WTAM at 8 o'clock tonight . . . Andy Sannella returns to the air on WJZ, WJR, WLW, WGAR, KYW at 9:30 in an orchestra narration, "The Story of Women's Names" . . . and Marcella Shields again rates a regular NBC spot with "Margie the Steno" on WJZ at 9:45 . . .

How did Lou Kaufman make the groundhog squeal on yesterday's "Globe Trotter" period? . . . Merely by tickling the Br'er under the forepaws . . .

A descriptive scene of the old Ford Theater in Washington where Lincoln was assassinated is to be carried direct from the orchestra pit, with Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant III, grandson of the President, at the microphone of CBS the afternoon of February 12 . . . President Hoover's address from the White House is to be broadcast by both NBC and CBS . . .

One hundred Bavarian zither players are to play and yodel for WCAE, Sun-Telegraph listeners, this Sunday at 4 o'clock direct from Munich, Germany. . . .

Time of the "Follies" on KQV is to be changed to 9 o'clock this Saturday, with a special tribute to Henry Thies, WLW band leader. . . .

Dry Goods Dealers Plan Big Ad Drive

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Asserting the country is on the threshold of the "greatest era of expansion this world has ever seen," E. C. Hastings, president of the Dry Goods Economist, urged retailers to help restore buying confidence by mapping out definite programs or merchandising and advertising for the coming year. He told the National Retail Dry Goods convention:

"We are right now planning on a volume of $2,000,000,000 for 1932. Merchants, to get this, expect to spend approximately $200,000,000 in advertising and display, a sum no other industry can even approach."

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The life-of-the-party boys have recently devised a new radio game. It consists merely of hurrying to the receiving set when the advertising credits are being broadcast, turning the volume knob to its limit, blasting the ears with ballyhoo.

To be most effective the game is to be played with silence exclusively the rule on the radio during broadcast of everything save the advertising chatter. Of course, a little of it goes a long way, but if you do want a picture of advertising ad absurdum, through the medium of the microphone, here is the way to get it.

Ballyhoo on the radio seems to us to have lessened appreciably during the past year. Many of the more consistent sponsors of commercial programs have seen the light, have realized that there is more good will for their product created by a suggestion, by a minimum of attention-calling than by laying superlatives on with a trowel. They are reaping the benefit, it is said, in increased earnings.

* * *

Next to the method of suggestion, or an announcement of not more than 20 words—count them—we still believe that Ben Old Maestro Bernie has arrived at the best solution of putting over a commercial program. Namely, kidding the product that is being advertised. Obviously, the kidding has to be done deftly, otherwise it defeats its purpose. Bernie makes his kidding a work of art.

When radio develops more Ben Bernies—and that's a job as difficult as developing new stars—the whole problem of broadcast ballyhoo will, it seems to us, be solved. People will listen then to advertising chatter out of sheer enjoyment, will clamor for commercial programs as night clubs now clamor for customers.

PRIZE BEAUTY 'PERFECT 34'

She was selected from a bouquet of 100 beauties by the American Beauty Congress last night after a committee of physique experts had first picked 15 outstanding types.

The winner is Mabel Ellis, an orphan who came to New York from Birmingham, Ala., three years ago. She is 5 feet and one-half an inch tall, weighs 118 pounds and measures 34 inches around the bust and hips and 26 inches around the waist. She is feminine, but athletic and lamb-ishly alert.

Ten of the 15 who competed in the finals were blondes. One was a red head, one had gray hair, one was a brunette and two had brown hair. Blue eyes predominated.

Love Story Dramatized

The opening chapters of "Embers of Love," the new serial story which begins in the Sun-Telegraph tomorrow, will be dramatized tonight at 7:30 over WCAE. It is the story of a pretty girl in whom burned the flame of a great emotion—who was won in marriage—but denied her husband and left with only "Embers of Love." Further installments will be dramatized every Wednesday at 7:30 over WCAE.

The Globe Trotter will be on regularly at 9:05, 12:15, 2:30 and 6:30, bringing news of the situation in China.

The weekly sports revue will be staged tonight at 7 o'clock.

The Sun-Telegraph Nite Club, with Jack Keough and the Nite Club Orchestra, takes the air at 11:15 p. m.

By GEORGE SEIBEL

RARELY have two players been received with more generous appreciation than Otis Skinner and Maude Adams—or should one say Maude Adams and Otis Skinner?—had last night when they presented "The Merchant of Venice" at the Nixon Theater. This cordial reception was not for William Shakespeare, not for the blue skies of Venetian romance, not for the theatrics of the trial scene—but for Maude Adams and Otis Skinner, honored and beloved for their devotion to the best in art as revealed on the stage.

George Seibel

The play moved slowly and the stage picture was often static instead of dynamic. Old traditional business had been discarded, except by Shylock, and such new business as had been invented did not lend enough life to the action. The comedy lacked gusto—Launcelot, for example, did not get awake to his opportunities till the last scene. The romance suffered from colorless vocalization—the "such-a-night-as-this" verses of the last act missed the music of passion.

If the performance, despite all this, was a satisfactory and even a memorable one, the credit belongs to Otis Skinner, to Maude Adams, and to a responsive and receptive audience.

Otis Skinner knows this role of Shylock from the days when he played with Lawrence Barrett, whose cross he wears upon his sleeve. Maude Adams brought to her portrayal of Portia a personality of unfading charm and a comedy spirit of quick sensitivity.

SPEAKING OF SHYLOCK

Strange to say, the finest moment of Mr. Skinner's Shylock to me was the speech about his Leah's ring—"I would not have given it for a wilderness of monkeys." Here was pathos deep and sincere. The whole scene with Tubal had dramatic touch and go. In the trial scene he was not as virulent and vindictive as George Arliss, and the dramatic emphasis fell more strongly upon Portia. This seems to be a mistake, for Portia's own lines would strike more fire if they met harder flint.

There is a quality of furtive apprehension in the role of Shylock which Mr. Skinner brings out better, perhaps, than any other interpreter of the Jew that Shakespeare drew. The fury of despair also finds drastic expression when he realizes his loss. Racially the portrayal lacks the little touches that made Irving so Rembrandtesque and those bursts of sonority which must have caused the critic of Edmund Kean to say his acting was like reading Genesis by flashes of lightning. At all times intelligent, at all times consistent, at all times comprehensible and even sympathetic, it is a fine traditional Shylock without torrential force.

SPEAKING OF PORTIA

Maude Adams makes a more womanly Portia than most of her predecessors. It must be remembered that Portia was a sort of suffragette, intellectual and adventuresome, rather than emotional and flighty. Miss Adams has a quality of archness and tricksiness that do not always blend happily with the necessary background or undercurrent of the role. So she seems superficial except in moments of deep sincerity, like the "quality-of-mercy" speech, which makes a deep impression, due chiefly to the inner emotion of the actress.

Aside from Robert Harrison as the Duke and Frank Henderson as the Prince of Arragon, there was no acting or reading worthy of high praise. Barry O'Neill as Gratiano had his moments. David Stone as Tubal wore a fine rabbinical makeup, and the others were about on the level of respectability.

Much care has been bestowed upon the production—perhaps a little too much in places. The four swarthy attendants of the Prince of Morocco, for example, made one apprehensive that they were going to burst into a vocal quartet.

But the Venetian spell lay upon the blue and gold atmosphere of the settings, lurked in the rich luxuriance of the costumes, and lent a pervasive magic to the presence of two players whose stellar glory was blended in a performance that was received with overflowing cordiality by a most sympathetic audience.

In Person

Plays, Players, By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The first big musical review in quite a long period, "The Band Wagon," will be in the Nixon next week with the stars of the New York production, Fred and Adele Astaire, Helen Broderick and Frank Morgan. Tomorrow the box office will be ready to do business with those interested in the matter. Matinee days remain the same, Wednesday and Saturday.

* * *

Small Timer says we all think we get the worst of it and yet some of us aren't even married.

* * *

"Experience Unnecessary," comedy that will be seen in the Alvin next week as the fourth production in the Professional Players subscription series, is coming directly from Broadway, where its engagement will come to a close Saturday. Verree Teasdale and Walter Woolf head the cast that also features Rex O'Malley. Praps you remember Walter as a gleeman of certain musical shows.

* * *

Small Timer says a lot of people who adore the naked truth and bare facts, seem to think chorus girls are neither truth nor fact.

* * *

Phidelah Rice, who will be seen in "The Servant in the House" in Carnegie Music Hall next Monday night, calls himself a monactor. That is his way of saying that he is the whole company, playing all the parts himself. That must be convenient, since it prevents the leading woman from becoming temperamental if the star hogs the spotlight.

* * *

Small Timer says these are the days when the boss gets a grateful look in response to a call-down.

* * *

Ziegfeld's new musical show which will be in the Nixon Feb. 22 prior to its New York premiere, will give Washington the first look. The present title is "Laid in Mexico" but that is like the weather—subject to change. From Feb. it will go to the Ziegfeld Theater, N. Y. In the cast will be Bert Lahr, Buddy Rogers, Lynn Overman, Marjorie White, June Knight and Ziggy's Mexican find Conchita, who is supposed to be Conchita Montenegro of the films.

Dry Goods Retailers Elect Burchfield

A. H. Burchfield, Jr., of Pittsburgh, was elected a director-at-large at the convention in New York yesterday of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. Others selected to the same office were D. F. Kelly, of Chicago, president of the association, and Lew Hahn, of New York.

Hollywood's Social Code Proves Haphazard and Fantastic Affair

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.

In this glamorous community, we have the most elastic, the most haphazard code of social etiquette ever devised by man.

Parties are public property. Your hostess, giving a buffet supper, prepares for twice as many guests as are invited. Or if she issues a 7 o'clock invitation for dinner—this from a prominent Hollywood matron—she never starts to dress before 8, knowing that her guests won't arrive until 9. Then if some outsider shows up at the appointed hour, she makes an excuse that she was delayed at the studios.

Phillips Holmes

In Hollywood, you never worry about the faux-pas of sitting divorced couples together. They always are friendly.

Except at Mayfair parties, which unless specified otherwise, call for evening wear, any kind of clothes are permissible. Here, of course, there is a good excuse. Studio hours are unpredictable.

For the same reason, nothing is thought of it if the hostess calls up at the last minute and cancels the dinner. Guests of honor have the same privilege.

Another curious Hollywood complacency allows the host to hire a professional insulter to bait his guests. Vincent Barnett makes his living this way.

I could go on indefinitely. I also could name exceptions. But the code remains the most fantastic, perhaps the most amusing in the world.

CHEAP AT ANY PRICE

Charlie, the futile suitor in "Strange Interlude," will be played on the screen by Ralph Morgan, who created the role on Broadway. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer arrived at this decision after considering several other actors, among them Conrad Nagel. The loan of Morgan has been arranged with the Fox Studio, where he is under contract. In the meanwhile, final conferences will decide the actor to play the husband. Ralph Graves, Phillips Holmes, Ben Lyon and Bill Haines have taken tests. Bob Leonard plans to start the picture this week.

FILM SOCIETY SPLIT

As might have been expected, the Mayfair "hard-times" party ended up with half the stars wearing the customary evening dress. The rebels were roundly if good-naturedly hissed as they entered the room.

Even the menu reflected the split. Originally, it had been planned to serve corn-beef and cabbage and boiled vegetables.

But when the plates came in, the corn-beef stood side by side with a slice of white meat of chicken.

Most picturesque couple in costume were Mr. and Mrs. Eric von Stroheim. She wore a gown woven of black and white shoe laces. Von's garb was white linen knickers, tail coat, white dress vest, no shirt, wing collar, white bat tie and a monocle on a white band. Later on, he removed the knickers, disclosing satin court breeches. To complete his get-up, Von carried a gold cigaret case containing 20 half-smoked butts.

Saw many other amusing and attractive costumes . . . Marilyn Miller in gingham evening gown, squired, of course, by Don Alvarado . . . Lilian Bond, and Mrs. Kalmus in attractive calico creations . . . Fay Wray in a smartly cut gown made of the lining of a coat . . . Sally Eilers in blue pajama trousers and red and white sweater . . . Hoot Gibson in dungarees and blue shirt . . . Jack Oakie (he probably came just as he was) in white flannels and a sweater. Jack's lady was Mary Collins, a niece of Miriam Hopkins . . . Ivan Lebedeff, always the fashion-plate, with Vivienne Osborne . . . Sari Maritza, with an unknown escort . . . Johnny Hines in overalls and a red and white checked shirt . . . and, swell touch, some pretty blonde wearing an Empress Eugenie hat.

Perfect Hand Dealt In Bridge Game

A perfect spade hand, 13 of them, was dealt to F. L. Norton, of 214 McIntyre avenue, North Side, during a bridge party at his home Monday night, he said. His partner was Mrs. W. J. Wilson, and her husband was the dealer. Norton said:

"I was so excited I bid seven spades. I should have bid five and waited for a double. After I made the bid I simply laid my cards down. We didn't play it out."

Wife Denies Mate's Charge of Desertion

Mrs. Katherine R. Andrist, of Undercliff, denied a charge of desertion made by her husband, Edward C. Andrist, of 1216 Howard street, in his divorce suit and said he locked her out of their home and, pointing a revolver at her, threatened to kill her if she did not go. They were married July 10, 1911, and parted May 21, 1928.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

This Town of Ours

Gilbert Kahn, Otto's eldest boy, is on a H'wood-bound Iron Horse to blotter the tears of Sylvia Sydney, whose magic lantern magnate Got Remorse . . . Mrs. Kahn (heiress to the Whelan Cigar emporium dividends) practically has her melting papers in her purse . . . The Lois Moran-Doug Montgomery radiator has icicles, too . . . Hal ("Follies") LeRoy is a pneumonia victim, poor chap . . . The same molar trouble that felled Teddy Roosevelt, Sr., just put the ex-Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett in a West Coast hosp . . . The Joseph Bannons (Eleanor Kendall's mater), who were wedded less than a year ago, are taking solo holidays, already . . . The Otis Chatfield-Taylors, who parted and reconciled last week, are still trying hard to Make Up Their Minds . . . James Dunn's breakdown signal is too near, physicians telling him to Go Away . . . Add Cracks: Be Kind to Your Enemies, Remember you Made Them!

President Laval's daughter, Josie, swaps sugary missives with the Waldorf-Astoria's ass't mgr . . . When the Breakfast Club was raided at Delmonico's, the cops who were busy frightening revelers, missed the hold-up of the hotel cashier downstairs . . . Wonder why Nancy Carroll's ex (Jack Kirkland) leaped by plane to Salt Lake to catch the choo-choo carrying the lass he ta-ta'd in the L. A. depot the day before? . . . It embarrassed the lady so—for The One and Only met her there too! . . . Claire Maynard will tell a judge about Jack (Wall St.) Tart as soon as she returns to Hollywood . . . "Inside Stuff," which offended the Messrs. Hoover and Stimson in its initial issue, failed to get on the newsstands Friday. . . . The new mag hopes to circulate in spite of the "marked" Distributing Co., if it helps.

Undercover prohib agents have just completed a survey of Staten Island speaks and will list 280 controlled by two politicians. . . . The blowoff is expected in a fortnight . . . Coast Guard officers will also be listed as running their own hush-house on Hicks Strasse (B'klyn) . . . Miamah Beach, Fla., has stifled the Blue Law and the unrespectables Have Gone Silly . . . Starting today all Bermuda hotels and shops will accept Canadian money at par. . . . So the wiseacres may now buy $100 worth of Canuck coin at a Manhattan bank for $85 and get rich quick down there.

Add Amusing Observations: Mrs. Ted Healy sues Mary Brown Warburton for alienation damages and Healy has had a new heart for months, now! . . . Chas. Wilson, managing director for the Park Lane (and for 25 years at Sherry's), will manage the Casino on June 1—Sydney Solomon remaining Head Man, however . . . Mrs. Rudy Vallee's condition is more serious than she knows . . . The piece of the CBS chain owned by Paramount is being baited by A. C. Blumenthal, whose wife, Peggy Fears, is guarded by a police parade—since what gossip gossiped? . . . Peggy Joyce is Grant Withers' girl this wk . . . Walter Marshall, of the Daily Mirror, and not Walter Winchell, was punched completely out again in Reuben's the other yawning.

An orchid to Frances Williams for her version of "As Time Goes By" in the "Everybody's Welcome" show . . . A scallion to the authors for borrowing O. Henry's "Gift of the Magi" without saying that they did . . . A scallion to that W. 45th St. hotel drug store for its "Night Prices," which is another alibi to double fees on medicines after midnight . . . An orchid to the Hippodrome for offering 40 minutes of endings to all Dempsey fights . . . And a bouquet of scallions to that night club backer (from the dress business) who had a chorus girl dismissed out of two late hot-spots for The Usual Reason.

Beth Leary and Jimmy Bryant, whose new book is christened "Clouds of Death," have resumed Cupiding . . . Josephine Larkin is back in circulation, again—but is glum about it. Richard (Geo. Olsen Crew) Gardner-trouble . . . The Charles Foys (Grace Hayes), who were On The Verge, are sending their laundry out in the same bag again.

Mrs. Maurice Chevalier accompanies him on his personal appearance tours, so there . . . Paul Dauer, of the New Amsterdam staff, followed the "Band Wagon" to Boston and broke out with a Rasch girl, who became his squaw . . . Eddie Foy, Jr., recently melted from Barbara Newberry, gets Cartier gifts from a better known Park Avenue gel, the big gigolo! . . . Payson, the book publisher, will blend with Morrow . . . H. L. Salisbury, of Paramount, and a terpischorine 30 years his junior, are plotting a merger . . . Martha Hinman, of Albany, whose pappy is a jurist, and Ted Shawn, Ruth St. Denis' ex, are hoofing together on and off the dance recital platforms.

True York, daughter of York and King, has been sealed to Ernest Lundberg for months . . . She has handed in her notice to her parents' act to join her husband, who is in Duluth juggling a baton . . . Madeline Van, Bobby Connelly's ex, is now Dr. Max Eagel's heart, the doctor having settled all yellmoney arrears on his wife (half the total sum), or exactly $537.50 . . . The Inner Circle Society will forward invites to their annual dinner encased in "tin-box"—which is a form of criticism on local politicians . . . Mayor Walker, who is 50, hasn't five gray hairs, which proves how worried he is about This or That . . . The aviation department of the Times and Trib (the Francis Waltons and the L. Deek Lymans, are blessed eventing.

Add Eyefuls off the screen: A black crepe dress with a white rhinestone jacket stuffed with Lilyan Tashman . . . Westchester's realtor, Everett Jacobs, has the miseries. A magazine front cover gal you must have seen . . . Joseph Burns, of the District Attorney's crew, will groom it in the spring . . . Michael J. Ward, youngest State Senator of the Commonwealth of Massachuetts (now do you see why Coolidge never was Governor of a State?) is being readied for the Boston mayoralty . . . Pola Negri is plenty ailing, but will go to Chi to keep a booking, the dope! . . . The new gag promoted by movie producers (agreeing not to sign stars while they work for rivals) is in violation of the Anti-Sherman Trust Law, so thank Mrs. Winchell's Walter, you would-be Garbos and Gables . . . George Marshall, of Washington, who is always with Mary Duncan when James Cromwell, of the Stotesburys, is with her—is practically alone . . . Fred Astaire has finally been arrow'd by Dan, so Adele, his sister, had her picture taken thumbing her nose at the idea, and sent it to him . . . If the Red Ball flag goes up—it won't mean ice-skating—it'll mean that the Japs Are In Town!!!

PICK CLASSES IN VOICE TEST

With the closing of the time allotted for the registration in the girl with the sweetest voice contest, which is being conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Radio Station WCAE, the tremendous task of arranging the nominations into districts was started yesterday by a corps of girls.

It is hoped that this will be completed before the end of the week, at which time the final arrangements for the preliminary auditions are expected to be made and the judges selected.

To "the girl" with the sweet mellow golden voice will go the position of announcer of a daily broadcast sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and WCAE.

Watch the Sun-Telegraph daily for the announcement as to where and when the first preliminary audition will take place.

MALONE TO SEE TECH RIFLEMEN

Marksmen of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of Carnegie Institute of Technology will exhibit their skill when Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding the Third Corps area, makes his first inspection visit to Tech next Wednesday afternoon.

Among the trophies displayed in the Tech military room are three from William Randolph Hearst. The corps holds the shooting championship of the reserve area. The present rifle team is composed of Scherba, Bechert, Painter, Irons and Holloway.

The impending visit of Gen. Malone is his first inspection trip to Pittsburgh. During his two-day visit, he will inspect the reserve units, the Coast Artillery, 408th Cavalry and other units of the 99th Division. He will speak at a meeting of the American Legion Wednesday noon, and at Carnegie Lecture Hall that night.

Lutheran Group To Hold Banquet

The Lutheran Brotherhood of Pittsburgh will hold its twenty-third annual banquet tomorrow night in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Speakers will include Attorney John F. Kramer, Mansfield, O., first Federal Prohibition Commissioner under President Wilson, and I. F. Mellinger, Leetonia, O., lumberman, who will speak on "The New Fraternity." Ralph Reichhold, cartoonist, will be toastmaster. George A. Hein is president of the brotherhood.

Dunn Reported After Campbell's Toga

By MARK SHIELDS

Congressional candidates are blossoming throughout Allegheny County, rivals being discussed for each of the five incumbents.

Some of those mentioned will get no farther than the praiseful vocal circle of their own immediate friends—or maybe family—but there are others who must be taken seriously at this time, and continue as speculative possibilities until the last day for filing nomination papers has passed.

Mr. Shields

Those now representing Allegheny County in Washington are Edmund F. Erk, Clyde Kelly, P. J. Sullivan, Harry A. Estep and Guy E. Campbell. They are from the Thirtieth to the Thirty-fourth districts, in the order named.

State Representative Matthew Dunn is reported to be actively campaigning against Campbell, trying the wind to see how far he would get in an actual campaign. Burgess Joseph G. Steedle, of McKees Rocks, also a member of the Legislature, is understood to be discussing a possible candidacy with his friends, though taking out petitions for renomination to the Legislature.

Time after time in previous campaigns there has been discussion in the district south of the Monongahela and Ohio of possible opposition to Campbell. But on each occasion, after some preliminary gestures, Campbell has easily gone through to victory through the close touch he maintains with his district.

* * *

Dunn Easy Victor For Legislature

Dunn has had no difficulty in getting elected to the Legislature. He has a large following in labor ranks, is active in behalf of welfare legislation, and was one of the most prominent participants in the recent march of Father Cox to Washington.

Steedle was in the spotlight in the last regular session of the Legislature through his position as chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee of the House. Acting as floor leader of the Kline-Coyne contingent, he was also in close consultation with Gov. Pinchot, and steered legislation in which both were interested. From his seat near the front of the House he would turn and sign to the majority of the members the course of their vote, an index finger to the eye for yes, to the nose for no.

Steedle is reported to be considering a candidacy only if he gets the support of Burgess John Cavanaugh, of Homestead. Cavanaugh and Coyne are bitterly at odds, which might not make for friendship between the municipal heads of McKees Rocks and Homestead. Moreover, Campbell has been generous to the Cavanaugh faction in such patronage as was to be dealt out in the district from Washington.

* * *

O'Malley Grooming For Another Tussle

P. J. O'Malley, who unsuccessfully fought Sullivan two years ago, is grooming for another tussle. In this contest he will have the support of Coyne, as he had before. The Mayor declined to go along with Coyne and O'Malley in 1930.

Out on the North Side and the boroughs and townships outside the city beyond the Allegheny there is no open threat to Erk, who succeeded the late Stephen G. Porter, to whom he was secretary for many years. If Independents offer a challenge to Erk, their choice might fall upon Ralph Flinn, son of the late Senator William Flinn, and in this event Flinn might receive some organization support. Flinn was discussed as a congressional possibility when Erk was first elected, but did not exert himself in any fashion to secure support.

With Harry Estep, the situation is much as it is with Erk. Many men are talking of an effort to defeat him, but they appear to have no real grievance, and no publicly-named candidate with whom to furnish opposition.

* * *

Estep's Strength Through Armstrong

Estep's greatest strength came through the late County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, whose last primary campaign he managed. The names of George S. Oliver, former newspaper publisher, and James M Magee, Estep's predecessor, are in the minds of those who talk vaguely of fighting Estep, but there is evident little real activity in their behalf.

Magee now is a member of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, and apparently content, and Oliver has been keeping aloof from politics since he retired and endeavored to turn all of his following over to Coyne.

Clyde Kelly apparently is due for no disturbance. He has become a tradition in his district.

How far any opposition candidacies go is problematical. Talk which is vociferous early in the campaign is not always translated into action, and, in view of some past performances, no opposition can be considered real until names remain alive after the last day for withdrawing candidacies.

Over WCAE tomorrow night at 6 o'clock, Mark Shields will interview State Senator Frank J. Harris on political questions.

G. O. P. LOYALTY TO WEALTHY SCORED

Priest Insists Senator Is 'Real Brains' of Upper House in Ellwood City Talk

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 3.—Senator David A. Reed was called the brains of the United States Senate by the Rev. James R. Cox, of St. Patrick's Church, Pittsburgh, in an address here last night before the Ellwood City Kiwanis Club.

Only a small audience heard the leader of the jobless army speak. The meeting was held in the basement of the Lutheran Church, which was too small for the crowd that sought to hear the priest.

Father Cox said:

"Senator Reed is a brilliant man. He is the real brains of the United States Senate. If he wanted to do something to help the thousands of men out of work in this country, he could do so. He is held back because of his loyalty to the administration which tolerates a system that gives consideration only to the wealthy."

WARNS BUSINESS MEN

The priest warned business men they were rapidly being put out of business by the few rich men who control most of the nation's wealth.

He said:

"I warn you people that this is your fight. Most of you are merchants and while you sit here in your snug comfort, thousands appeal to me daily for food, clothing and shelter. You must help me because I cannot hold them back much longer.

SEES SLAVERY TODAY

"After Lincoln had freed the slaves, he declared that this nation soon would face a greater problem of slavery—that of slavery of the citizens to the monopolies, and he spoke the truth, as we see today. Slavery exists today as it existed many times in our history, on the eve of revolution.

"A few business men here apparently believe that Ellwood City is taking care of its employment problem satisfactorily. If that is the case, why have you asked the federal government for aid."

Recruiting Chief Here Silent on Future Plans

Only three or four men out of 100 applicants are being accepted for the Navy, Capt. Lamar R. Leahy, officer in charge of the Northeastern Recruiting Division, revealed today as he made the annual inspection of the Pittsburgh recruiting station.

Asked if an extensive recruiting campaign was contemplated, he said:

"I would rather not talk on that subject.

"Recruiting is going along normally at present. We have a great many applications but are taking very few. Of every 100, only three or four are accepted, due to the high type of men sought for the Navy. We offer a career. We maintain 50 trade schools."

Capt. Leahy was welcomed by Commander C. M. James, formerly of the Asiatic fleet, who has been in charge of recruiting here for two months.

SCHOOL BOARD STUDIES CITY FUND AUDIT

Report Awaited on Use of Education Money During Schooley Administration

J. Rodgers McCreery, solicitor for the Board of Public Education, today said that the board's auditor is engaged in analyzing the audit of the affairs of deposed City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley.

Controller James P. Kerr told McCreery a separate report on the position of school funds will be forthcoming in a few days. McCreery has been considering indictments against former employes of the office charged with embezzlement. He does not know if any of the money belonged to school funds.

AWAITS REPORTS

Discussing his visit to Kerr, McCreery said:

"Until we go through all reports it would not be wise to jump at conclusions."

Asked about the item of nearly $900,000 for water taxes charged by the audit to the School Board, McCreery said it meant little, adding:

"The city owes the School Board more than $700,000 for money applied to the removal of the hump many years ago."

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today said that he would study the audit of the city treasurer's office, but that he did not believe any additional indictments would grow out of it. Park said that Schooley could be indicted on each and every item where it was shown he did not obey the law, such as the rebating of delinquent tax penalties, acceptance of checks and holding them for the payment of delinquent taxes and other irregularities.

NEARLY 50 COUNTS

Park said there are around 50 such counts against Schooley, and bringing of more counts would not mean much.

Park said that most of the I. O. U. items disclosed by the audit in reality did not represent borrowings but acceptance of checks for the payment of delinquent taxes. These were held as cash until the checks could be deposited to pay for receipts issued.

Young South Park Travelers Halted At Tubes

At the Missing Persons Bureau they gave their names as Patsy Anne Allen, 18, and Betty Lou Riffel, 17, both of South Park. In Morals Court today Patsy Ann said she is Virginia Dody and Betty Lou admitted being Madeline Thomason, both of Moundsville, W. Va. They said they left home Monday and were turned over to social workers.

Patsy wore denim trousers, white aviation cap, sweater and lumber jacket, while Betty was attired in overalls, sweater, black and white fur jacket. Both wore high-heeled slippers.

Secret's Out--We're to Blame For China's War

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Pin back your ears, keep your eyes on the road and listen to this.

America is to blame for the Chinese war. Why? Because we didn't enter the League of Nations.

At least that's the way the international pacifiers figure it. Uncle Sam has now been blamed for everything except the way Mahatma Gandhi dresses.

As Haman said about his neck, you can stretch things too far.

And when they blame Uncle Sam for the Chinese fireworks it's like spanking teacher because the pupils are late.

They have proved that they can take it.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR STRICKEN FAMILIES

Emergency Group to Assume Burden, Miller Points Out; Community Work Pushed

J. Clyde Miller, chairman of the County Poor Board, today was to seek the co-operation of Frank R. Phillips, chairman of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, in borrowing money in anticipation of taxes for county poor relief.

Co-operation of Phillips was to be sought on the theory that his association is interested since it shortly will take over all families on the Poor Directors' list which are headed by unemployed, able men of the association.

UNABLE TO BORROW

The Directors have been unable to borrow the money vital to operation of the Woodville home and administration of partial relief to the 16,000 families on its books, Miller admitted.

Meanwhile, Miss Isabel Kennedy continued her organization work on the Emergency Community Councils which she is forming in 22 city districts. Lawrenceville, South Side, Woods Run, Manchester and Hill district groups will, it is expected, be functioning as non-administrative case clearing houses this week.

RELIEF METHODS SCORED

Relief and welfare workers were going about their work today with the declaration of Fred H. Hoehler, welfare director of Cincinnati, O., that America's relief methods are not adequate to her needs, ringing in their ears. At a meeting of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, last night, Hoehler said:

"Federal relief is one thing that we'll have to get to. State and municipal groups are proving inadequate all over the country, and, with the federal forces, are passing the buck back and forth among themselves."

In the midst of industrial depression, he declared, American cities are finding themselves with no new relief methods. In Cincinnati, he indicated a situation similar to Pittsburgh's, saying:

"We are spending about $250,000 a month and we need five times that. The strain is too much for case work. Two social workers died of broken hearts and overwork. We long ago realized private agencies can't do the job.

"Last year, private agencies contributed $1,000,000, public sources $750,000; this year, city and county must put up $2,500,000."

SEES MENTAL HARM

Commenting on results of the depression, he said:

"What will come out of this depression in mental shock will far overshadow that from the war, because it affects children as well as men and women."

Weapons used to combat the depression in Cincinnati he outlined as employment staggering, contributions of food by workers to furloughed workers in the same plants, intra-plant loan funds, public works reserves and bond issues and creation of public and private work.

PRIEST URGES 5 BILLION JOB LOAN

Federal Bond Issue Held Only Hope For Prosperity

Two things are needed immediately for the welfare of the American people—adoption of the $5,000,000,000 federal bond issue plans for public works as proposed by William Randolph Hearst, and passage of the Costigan-La Follette bill which would provide $375,000,000 for immediate distribution for the districts in need through their state departments of welfare.

This is the declaration of the Rev. John A. Ryan, noted economist and sociologist of the Catholic University, in Pittsburgh to discuss "Unemployment."

He said:

"I think we have to consider the Hearst plan for a $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan, for the reduction of unemployment and for bettering the business condition generally. It is the only way I see by which we can help business to pick up within the next six or seven months. More people must buy things if we are to have better times.

"As for those business men and politicians who have not made up their minds that we must have federal aid in local relief work, I would like to see Senator Reed and Senator Robinson and some of the others live for just one week on what the average charity family is getting today—$6.07 a week. It wouldn't take them long to make up their minds."

Father Ryan predicted that unless there is an inflation in business during 1932, general conditions will be worse next year. He criticised the President's committee on unemployment known as the Gifford Committee, for "knowing nothing whatever about the unemployment conditions." He said:

"The Gifford Committee has been nothing more or less than a ballyhoo committee. At the Senate hearing recently Gifford was unable to tell the Senators anything about the number of unemployed or the amount of help needed."

The future is not very comforting, as Father Ryan believes that even if prosperity returned within the next year, there would still be a great army of unemployed, probably 4,000,000 men, because, he points out, even at the peak of the boom in 1929, there were more than 2,000,000 men without work.

The Rev. Ryan spoke last night at the Y. M. & W. H. A., as the seventh lecturer on the association's series.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

GENEVA, Feb. 3.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

This is the hash of nations. There are 65 nations represented here. You see this is land disarmament too, so every nation with railroad fare and a gun is here. The smaller the nation the bigger the delegation. If you disarmed the delegates you would have disarmed over half the countries represented. Turkey is here not to disarm, but to try and book some wars for the coming season. The conferences open today alphabetically with Abyssinia the keynote speaker. There are lots of nations here willing to throw away two spears and a shield fo every battleship we sink. Went into another huddle with "Doc" Wooley. I am strong for Doc. The American delegation held a skull practice yesterday with the American press. E ch delegate spoke. All bemoaned the fact tha! both the House and the Senate had disarmed the American delegation of $150,000, leaving them only $300,000 to argue on. So our delegation, on account of this, opens about half sore at the world anyhow.

Yours, WILL.

TEACHERS' PAY CUT FOUGHT BY RULE

State Official Questions Legality of Plan Requiring Part Return of Salaries

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—The opposition which Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction, last week expressed to plans to reduce salaries of school teachers in Versailles Township and Homestead, he reiterated more extensively yesterday in an address before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association.

The plan to keep teachers contracts in force but in effect reduce salaries by having teachers return portions of their pay checks, was suggested in the two Allegheny County districts last week. Such a plan, the head of the state's educational system said is "of doubtful legality."

Dr. Rule said that never before have public school officials been confronted with such vital and such far-reaching problems of economy and public education. He added:

"To cut teachers' salaries unless, and until, every other measure of necessary economy has been taken is unsound and unsafe. It will further reduce their buying power. Greatest of all, however, will be the loss of confidence on the part of those who direct the spiritual and educational development of our children.

"Whatever we may think regarding the present emergency, the fact remains that teachers' salaries have been and still are subject to legislative enactment. The proposed evasion of the law by having teachers return, as a donation, the increments paid them, is of doubtful legality.

"In my opinion, the answer does not lie in a precipitate disruption of salary schedules and the public school program. It is time for an exhaustive study of the facts and for appropriate adjustments."

The State Superintendent recommended:

"A safe and sane course, in which every item of our program and budget can be justified, a course that will avoid destructive extremes."

The Homestead School Board, at a secret meeting last night, discussed the plan of the Homestead Teachers' Association to "donate" a month's salary. The acceptance of the plan might cause the board to lose its state appropriation, it is reported. At a meeting last week the teachers "volunteered" to donate a month's pay to reduce borough costs.

Reveal Stock Deals Of Scottdale Bank

Records of transactions between the former Broadway National Bank, of Scottdale, and New York and Pittsburgh brokerage firms were placed in evidence by the government at the trial of Thomas D. Byrne, cashier, and Frank F. Byrne, bookkeeper and director, of the bank, in Federal Court, on a charge of embezzlement and misapplication of bank funds.

George M. Gremmel, liquidating agent; Charles Saffer, head bookkeeper, and J. R. Adler, Pittsburgh manager of Colvin & Co., which formerly operated here and in New York, were called to identify records of stock transactions. Other witnesses were Charles V. O'Connell, of the National City Bank, of New York, and Henry S. Meehan, of the Henry Doherty Company.

SLEUTH SOLVES FILM MYSTERY

Waving aside Bill Harris' record on the homicide squad, let it be said now he's a wow in the movies.

He and four others from the city detective bureau tried to guess the culprit in the picture "Charlie Chan's Chance," which they viewed privately yesterday in the screen room of the Stanley theater.

He was asked:

"What are you going to do with it, Bill?"

And Bill countered:

The mystery picture starts at the Warner Theater Friday.

ALTOONA POWER DEAL PROBED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission was informed today the National Electric Power Company received $3,980,960 from its subsidiary, the Penn Central Light and Power Company of Altoona, for surrender of a block of the Penn Central's common stock.

Occurring in 1926, the transaction was said by Aaron J. Hughes, commission accountant, to have taken place on the "demand" of the parent firm.

Detailing the reorganization of the Penn Central Company, Hughes said the old company of that name had been purchased by the United Lighting Company for $5,627,911. The United name was later changed to the Penn Central Light and Power Company.

Hughes said the new Penn Central, on the basis of an appraisal of its properties, fixed its value at $11,564,577, or an increase of "write-up" of $5,899,062.

In March, the parent corporation turned back to the Penn Central 28,640 shares of the latter's common stock and received the $3,980,960 in cash in return, or at the rate of $139 a share.

Hughes said before the reduction in the outstanding stock, the book value of the Penn Central common was $86.15 a share, which went to $40.20 after the transaction.

DEPUTY NAMED AS SLAYER IN STRIKE RIOT

Fired at Orders of Boss In Arnold City Mine Row, Say Strikers, Employes

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—Deputy Sheriff John Yoder was directly charged with the fatal shooting of Mike Pilipovich in the mine strike disorder at Arnold City last June 23 by three witnesses testifying in court today. Supt. Ernest Barnes, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, gave the order to fire, according to testimony.

Testimony of strikers was backed up by coal company employes, when the habeas corpus proceedings to effect the release of nine men, company employes and guards, arrested last week on a murder charge, was begun today.

ORDERED TO SHOOT

According to Frank Bialon, a striker, Barnes ordered:

"Fire on the ——"

Bialon said the order came after some person in a crowd of 40 had hurled an egg which broke against a truck containing 15 strike-breakers. He testified:

"Deputy Sheriffs John Yoder and Leroy Ingram were on the truck. They jumped off and Yoder hurled a tear gas bomb. As the crowd scattered Barnes gave the order to shoot, and all the deputies fired. I saw Yoder, Ingram, Buttermore, Ted Hunt, Wesley Fisher, Donald Royston, O. P. Claybaugh and Jess Sisley all shooting."

Dr. H. A. Heise told of finding six bullet wounds in Pilipovich's body when the victim was taken to Brownsville Hospital.

FIRED IN CROWD

William A. Hawk, coal company employe, after describing the egg throwing, said Yoder drew his revolver and emptied it into the crowd. He said Philipovich was standing on the porch in front of his store when he was shot down. After emptying his revolver, Hawk said, Yoder returned to the truck with a shotgun. Hawk continued:

William Kearns, 18, miner, testified:

William Roberts, miner, quoted Barnes as ordering Yoder to "Let him have it." Walter Wazniak said he heard Barnes give the order to shoot and a half dozen deputies joined in the shooting, he said.

The nine defendants were arrested last week after District Attorney Wade K. Newell had caused informations charging murder to be made.

UTILITY BATTLE DEMANDED BY M'CLOSKEY

Johnstown Council Urged To Join Fight for Rates Based on New Low Costs

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—Mayor Eddie McCloskey has demanded that Council take up the fight for a reduction in utility rates. He argued that unless the administration officials joined in the battle, the people would have a long uphill fight.

Displaying to Council members yesterday copies of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in which it was stated utility rates were based on reproduction rates he said:

"The governments of cities should help the newspapers in their fight to reduce utility rates. If the administration officials do not do that, we cannot hope for a reduction immediately. I request the Johnstown City Council to go on record as favoring a reduction in all utility rates, including gas, electricity, water and telephone. I believe these rates should be reduced 25 per cent.

"This can be done because reproduction costs are from 25 to 35 per cent lower than they were several years ago."

The Mayor said that the electric light rate in Johnstown is 75 per cent higher than anywhere else in the United States.

PLAYGROUNDS QUIZ ORDERED

Charges that the City Bureau of Recreation employed swimming instructors for playground pools who could not swim, that recreational supervisors gave only part of their time to full time jobs and that political backing by ward chairmen was needed to obtain a job, were being investigated today by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang.

Throwing a bombshell into a hearing protesting amalgamation of the Bureau of Recreation with the Bureau of Parks, the Civic Club of Allegheny County stirred Council's ire when the charges were made. President John S. Herron, chairman of the Councilmanic Committee on Hearings, ordered an investigation. Assisting Lang will be Supt. W. C. Batchelor, of the Bureau of Recreation.

A survey conducted by the Civic Club, Maurice R. Scharff told Council, disclosed that in 1931 many recreational appointments at playgrounds and swimming pools were inefficient ones.

Postal Messengers Ask Higher Rating

Special delivery mail messengers in Pittsburgh today announced they were circulating petitions asking Congressman Clyde Kelly to aid them in their fight for classification as Civil Service workers.

The petition sets forth that the special delivery messengers have to work on a commission, and asks that they be placed on an equal footing with other postoffice employes.

Relatives of Wife Bring Unhappiness to Man

Here's another story of Too Much Mamma—

Not so long ago, Joe and the Little Girl marched up the aisle together, and then went blissfully to housekeeping in their own little love nest.

She swore she loved him better than anything on earth.

But that was before Mamma and Sis barged in.

And now? Well, now the love nest is empty—and so is Joe's heart. For the Little Girl has gone home.

RELATIVES CONTEMPTUOUS

"Dear Sally:

"I must have your opinion in my case if you can possibly find room in your column to give it. I am going crazy trying to dope it out for myself.

"My girl and I were happily married last summer, and after the honeymoon we settled down in our own love nest. I am 26 and she is 24.

"Things went smoothly until her mother and sister stepped in to run our home. At first my wife loved me more than she did them. Then she began visiting them often, until it became a daily routine. Many times after a hard day's work I had to bring her home from her mother's, and then wait until our meal was prepared.

"To her folks I was nothing but a common cab driver, in spite of the fact that I am honest, ambitious and am only holding down that sort of job because these days you have to grab what you can get. I work sometimes between 15 and 20 hours a day. Now I work 12 hours every day in the week. But if I ever took one day off it was their business and they made sarcastic remarks to my wife about it.

"Then one day her sister called my parents home and accused me of gambling, drinking and spending my money on other women. My wife knew where my money went. She got every cent I made. She knew I didn't drink or gamble, too. But often I hardly made expenses. She got a job this summer, and her mother told her to keep her money in her maiden name—that whatever she made was hers, and whatever I made was ours. I didn't care if she kept her money and said so. But her mother kept nagging at her, telling her I couldn't support her, and so forth. Finally I could stand it no longer, so I blew up and told her I hated her mother.

Well, in spite of the fact that she would never leave me, in spite of their dislike for me she did. They have her now. I contested her divorce in the hopes I could get her back. I love her. I would do anything in my power for her. Should I give her her freedom or try to get her back?

Please help me. JOE."

SHOULD FORGET HER

Well, son, it seems to me that letting her go is about the only thing you can do. If her people have such a powerful influence over her, you'd be in a continual turmoil if you did manage to persuade her to try it again. And she would duck out on you again just as she had this time.

So just about the only thing you can do is to close that chapter in your life and deal yourself a new hand.

This girl may love you in her way. But if she hasn't the spunk, at 24, to stick by you and face the world by your side, in spite of mamma, then her "love" isn't worth much, and you'd better get it over with and forget her as soon as possible and then look for a Regular Girl—

Many Runaways Grateful for Friendly Advice to Return, Says Fay King

THE RUNAWAY WILL FIND THE SAME PARENTAL DECIPLINE FROM ALL WHO WOULD PROTECT HER

By FAY KING

A runaway soon falls in with those persons who will greatly influence the result of that step.

The runaway will like best that "pal" who so heartily disapproves of all family discipline and is decidedly in favor of runaways. But many a runaway has regretted such a "friend."

The person who helps a runaway most is that one who first advises a return home, but if that fails takes the runaway in hand.

It may be because the same wise discipline is easier to take from an outsider, but this time it works.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Confused and Angered by Husband

The huskiness of Dicky's voice as he said "Do you mean that?" and the incredulity it breathed as he said "Do you mean you would do that for me?" opened a window in my husband's soul through which I never had looked before, or so it seemed to me as I listened to him.

For there was such humility in that question, such joyous yet doubting relief because I had said I would cut out the offending character, Vickers, from my third act, that I felt the sudden smart of tears which I knew I must not shed.

As if a dark room had been suddenly illuminated, I saw that Dicky feared this new work of mine far more than he ever had my friendship for Philip Veritzen, Hugh Grantland or Allen Drake, the three men toward whom at different times he has shown such unreasoning jealousy.

He had known, of course, underneath his apparent distrust of me, that there never had been any danger of my preferring any one of the three men to himself, but in this new and absorbing creative work which he knew was the realization of a lifelong dream, he feared that my brain might sometimes dictate to my heart, and subordinate him to my work.

I think that an intuitive little fear of my own was remorsefully back of the quick assurance I gave him.

"Of course, I would do that for you," I said earnestly. "After all, you know, Dicky, that your happiness and welfare, and those of the children, come first. If I can do anything in this creative line without neglecting any of you, I shall be very happy."

"I suppose you mean to chink it in in odd half days the way a housemaid attends to her social duties on her afternoon off."

Dicky's tone was sarcastic, but I heard a quizzical note in it which told me that his volatile temperament was swiftly recovering from the doubt and depression into which his discovery concerning my character, Vickers, had thrust him.

"If I can have an occasional afternoon off, all to myself, I shall do very well." I said demurely.

"You'll have more than that," Dicky said with decision. "Lil is right when she says you're in a class with presidents and premiers as far as demands on your time are concerned. I don't know just how we are going to manage it, but you're going to have certain days or certain times of the day when 'only battle, murder and sudden death' and not all of those, will be permitted to disturb you."

"It's wonderful of you to be so thoughtful, Dicky," I told him, "and now if you will excuse me, I'll get busy X-ing out those speeches of Vickers."

Dicky looked at me curiously. "Will you think I've gone clean off my bean," he said, "if I ask you not to cut those speeches out until after Veritzen has read the act?"

"I don't understand you," I said startled. "If I am going to cut out the character altogether, the less Mr. Veritzen reads of him, the better."

A curious intent remained in Dicky's voice and I wondered why he hesitated before answering me.

"I don't want to wound your feelings," he said, "and I probably am all wet, but I can't help thinking that perhaps if you read all those speeches to old Phil you'll be spared the necessity of cutting out the character."

He was actually stammering as he finished, but I did not wonder for it must have been embarrassing for him to suggest the thing to me which I read into his words.

"You mean, I suppose," I said slowly, and for the life of me I could not keep the chill from my voice, "that Philip Veritzen himself will delete the characteers of Vickers before I have a chance to volunteer to do so."

His face was brick red as I finished.

The Lord knows I'm sorry to tell you that, old girl," he said ruefully. "I wouldn't open my mouth about it if it weren't for two things. In the first place, you ought to be prepared for the stuff I think Veritzen is likely to pull, and in the second place you know nothing would make him wilder than for you to suggest taking out a character who has appeared in the first two acts which he already has read and approved."

I was bewildered and ashamed of the cold resentment which had seized me at this pronouncement of his.

"I knew I'd make a mess of things," he said. "You're sore and I don't blame you. I'm a brash, impertinent pup, but I can't help but tell you the thing as it looks to me. When it is a question of appraising a play or a book, I'm little George Washington II, III and IV, although as you know, I haven't any particular scruples about stretching the truth in other directions if occasion demands it."

I knew that he spoke the truth. He bends backward in his love for accuracy where his critical faculty is engaged. But his honesty did not make it any easier for me to forgive the slight to my play.

I knew, however, that I must conceal as much of my resentment from Dicky as was possible considering the fact he had already caught something of my feeling, but before I could frame fitting words with which to reassure him, Katie's knock sounded on the door and her voice announced shrilly:

"Dot Meester Veritzen he downstairs already vunce. Vant to know eef you ready for heem."

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Greeting the Doctor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I have had occasion to call on our new family doctor at his office several times lately, having suffered a nervous breakdown. I was not acquainted with him previously, having just answered the door to him about a year ago, but he knew who I was. I always rise when he enters the office and then I sit down when he greets me. Is this correct? Or is it quaint or gauche?

2. Do you approve of this letter paper? I always use white deckle, but could not get the size I like best this time and so compromised with this.

K.

1. Although you may rise if you wish to, when the doctor enters the room, it is not necessary for you to do this.

2. Your letter paper is in excellent style, the Scotch granite of which I am very fond, too. It is of good texture and of a size appropriate for your handwriting.

Engagement Announcement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please let me know the proper way to announce my daughter's engagement at a dinner party? C.

The girl's father usually proposes a toast toward the first of the dinner, to his daughter and her fiance. "To my Mary, and to her John," or "To Mary and John, with every wish for their happiness."

Or, if the girl's father is not living, some male relative proposes this toast, an older brother, an uncle or a cousin. Or some older man friend of the family, some man who perhaps was a friend of the father for many years.

It is not necessary to have this toast . . . the announcement may be made by the girl's putting on her engagement ring . . . it will be noticed soon enough!

How to Keep Well -:- -:-

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Neglect of Children's Colds Common, But Inexcusable

In certain families the children are never free from winter colds. For the household to be without this ailment is the exception rather than the rule. There is an amazing indifference to the condition. The cough is neglected or treated with some remedy recommended by a druggist or a sympathetic friend. Unfortunately, little effort is made to discover the underlying cause. Nothing is done to correct the predisposing condition, whatever that may be.

Dr. Copeland

Children who live in damp, cold dwellings or in poorly ventilated, overheated rooms are particularly liable to suffer. There may be a family peculiarity at the root of the trouble. The mucous membrane of the nose and throat may be oversensitive.

Such children should be kept at a high standard of general health. Their clothing should be suitable for the season, and flannel garments should be worn at night. The sleeping room should be well ventilated but without drafts. It should not be too cold; 60 degrees F. is a good average. The child should never be permitted to run around with bare feet.

The bowels should be kept regular by proper diet and a mild laxative should be given if needed. Codliver oil is good as a routine medicine during the winter months.

The treatment of the attack is simple. If there is any fever, the child should be kept in bed, but if the attack is not severe, a short time in the open air may be permitted during the middle of the day when the weather is favorable.

An examination of the throat and nose should be made. It is important to find out if diseased tonsils and adenoids or other unhealthy throat conditions are present. Give attention not only to the chest condition, but to the general health.

Whooping cough is another cause for coughing in children. This ailment is apt to be lightly regarded by parents. They are unaware that the disease and its complications cause more deaths than scarlet fever, diphtheria or measles.

Not only are the attacks distressing, but not infrequently they are accompanied by convulsions. All too frequently broncho-pneumonia, and occasionally tuberculosis, may follow. These possibilities should warn the mother and prompt her to seek medical advice when the first symptoms of coughing appear.

When a child has been exposed to whooping cough, even before a cough developes, the little one may often be treated successfully by the use of a proper vaccine.

Made specially for BABIES and CHILDREN

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment, Constipation.

Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle enough for their delicate organs. Yet it is always effective.

You never have to coax children to take Castoria. They like its taste! The genuine Castoria, you know, always has the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

Probable Tricks

For those who dislike employing fractions of tricks, the most simple short-cut method of valuing the hands of both declarer and dummy is that given below, which is more precise than nearly all other methods.

Quick trick values are employed only for defensive purposes. Both declarer and dummy employ "playing values," which exceed defensive values. The declarer possesses an enormous advantage over the defenders, provided the declaring side reaches the particular declaration best fitting the joint 26 cards held. Then the declarer has control of trumps; he plays the two hands as a unit; he knows from the start his resources and best policy.

As an illustration of the declarer's advantage, compare the average playing value of 1½ tricks for an ace, with its average defensive value of one trick. When held by either declarer or dummy, an ace of a suit not bid by opponents not only wins one trick, but also it averages to produce an added trick one-half the time, which trick could not be won unless the ace were held. This one-half trick promotional value of an ace is to a lesser degree found in lower honors. The sum of the normal defensive value of an honor, plus its promotional value, is the "playing value" of that honor, provided neither opponent bids the suit to which the honor belongs.

In the point count given here each point is one-half trick. Count points as follows: A, 3; K, 2; either Q, J, or 10, 1 point each. (Really the Q is 1½ points, and the 10 is worth only ½ point. For simplicity we merely take their average value, which is that of the J and assume that equal numbers of Q's and 10's will be held.)

A solid suit like A-K-Q-J value at 2 points (1 trick) per card. The K-Q-10-X evidently is worth 8 points (4 probable tricks), admitting that one trick must be sacrificed to the missing ace. Count 1 point for declarer's fourth trump, and value each trump beyond four at 2 points. The value of the following hand with spades as trumps is: spades 8 points; hearts 0; clubs, 3 points; diamonds, 2 points; total, 13 points, or 6½ probable tricks.

♠AK852 ♥974 ♣KQ7 ♦K8

For convenience in valuing the following hand at hearts, the values appear in points beneath each card that counts. The value is 12 points, or 6 playing tricks.

♠A732 ♥KJ1064 ♣KJ9 ♦83
3 2 1 1 2 2

Provided you hold enough high honors to establish a side suit, count its values as you would were it trumps. Value the hand below at spades.

♠AK9653 ♥K7 ♣Q10842 ♦
3 2 1 2 2 1 1 2

The probable value of the hand is 17 points, or 8½ playing tricks. Value the next hand at no-trumps.

♠Q106 ♥8743 ♣AKQ ♦KQJ
1 2 2 2 2 1 1

The total probable trick value of the above hand is 12 points, or 6 tricks. No method of valuation is quite so simple.

Deduct a point for unprotection, as follows: A alone, 2 points; K alone, 1 point. Either the J-X or 10-X-X should be accorded no value.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of Fat

Lost Her Prominent Hips—Double Chin—Sluggishness

Gained Physical Vigor—A Shapely Figure.

If you're fat—first remove the cause!

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

But be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—and SAFETY first is the Kruschen promise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts from any leading druggist anywhere in America (lasts 4 weeks) and the cost is but little. If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, SAFEST and surest way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

Skin was such a sight

In any case of pimples, blackheads, itching rash or eruptions you can clear up your skin quickly and easily by applying a little ROWLES MENTHO SULPHUR. Its twofold action is what you need to relieve stubborn skin troubles. Get a jar from your druggist. Guaranteed to give best results or money back.

COUGHS

Don't let them get a strangle hold. Fight germs quickly. Creomulsion combines the 7 best helps known to modern science. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Money refunded if any cough no matter of how long standing is not relieved. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion.

Mother of 7—Still Young

Her system doesn't stagnate, her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

HOW TO STOP PAIN INSTANTLY

One drop does it—corn soon lifts off

Just one little drop of FREEZONE on that aching corn will stop all pain instantly and for good. Then a few more drops of this safe liquid and corn gets so loose you can lift it right off with your fingers, core and all. It's the quickest way known to get rid of hard and soft corns and calluses. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

BUT they hadn't tried the New Oxydol

● Of course a washing machine saves you work. But even if you haven't one, washing doesn't need to be the back-breaking job it used to be.

The New Oxydol floats dirt out safely in 15 minutes. Sprinkle it in your washtub and you'll understand. It makes 50% more suds—richer, quicker, longer-lasting suds.

That's why this mild soap can save you so much work and time—its extra suds take the place of rubbing—they soak dirt out of clothes and hold it out—they never collapse and let the dirt fall back—they never ball up or leave a scum.

Try the New Oxydol. See how much it lightens all your housework—how easy it is on hands. It makes rich, clean-smelling suds in any water—and all water hardens when you add dirty clothes or dishes.

PITT AGAIN DEFEATS TECH

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Irish Next for Pitt.
Dukes' Tough Program.
Value of Left-Handers.
Permit Johnson to Box.

HOWARD BEST QUARTER MOYNIHAN MET

DURING THE FOOTBALL seasons of 1927-28-29, when big Tim Moynihan was playing center for Notre Dame, or up to the Southern California game in 1929 in which an injury put him out for the remainder of that campaign, the Irish took part in 25 games against a string of 14 tough teams, made up of Southern California, Northwestern, Army, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Georgia Tech, Detroit, Drake, Coe and Loyola of New Orleans.

Howard Harpster

No higher tribute could be paid to any player than to rank him the best faced in a particular position during that long period of competition with the class of the nation's gridders. That's the honor which Moynihan awards to Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech's all-America quarterback of 1928, and now coach at Geneva. Big Tim encountered Harpster only once, the occasion having been the game of 1928, in which the Plaid crushed the South Benders 27 to 7. Notre Dame and Carnegie did not meet in 1927, and Harpster was graduated before Moynihan's final season in 1929.

BUT EVIDENTLY HARPSTER showed Moynihan more in that one contest than did any of the other quarterbacks the Notre Dame center met in three seasons, for the former Carnegie star is ranked at the head of the list. Tim made the selection when asked to name the best man against whom he played.

In addition to Harpster he picks for the backfield, Nesbit, of Drake, at fullback, with Saunders, of Southern California, and Russell, of Northwestern, at the halves. The ends are Tappaan, of Southern California, and Briley, of Drake. The tackles are Price and Perry, both of Army. The guards are Woodworth, of Northwestern, and Zelle, of Indiana, and the center is Carlos, of Drake.

A NEW BRIGHTON reader asks for information as to whether Ray Cox, the former basketball coach at Braddock High School, referred to here the other day, is the same man of that name who played football at Allegheny College, and as to where he is now located.

Cox played football at Allegheny before becoming connected with Braddock High, where he coached the floor teams during the seasons of 1916-17 and 1917-18. He was succeeded for 1918-19 by Shady Lane, another Allegheny man. Cox is now in business in Meadville.

FOLLOWING THEIR SECOND victory of the season over Carnegie Tech last night, 31 to 26, the fifteenth straight time in five years and the eighteenth time in the last 19 meetings they have beaten the Tartan, the Pitt basketeers will now make ready for the big game with Notre Dame at the Stadium Saturday night. The Skibos will be idle for two weeks. Meanwhile the Dukes tonight will open a series of four tough games in New York and Brooklyn, meeting St. John's, Manhattan, Brooklyn K. of C. and City College in the order named. It is one of the most difficult four-night schedules that any college team ever tackled, and if the Bluffites succeed in getting an even break they will be doing all that can be reasonably expected of them.

Shauno Collins

"The left-hander who can get that ball over the plate at the right time and in the right spot can win games for you in any man's league," Collins said. "Look around and see the veteran southpaws who are earning more than their salt in the majors. Take Herb Pennock and Tom Zachary, as examples. They're pretty good, aren't they? Well, the secret of their success is that they have control and the knowledge of how to use it.

"NEITHER OF THOSE birds has any great amount of stuff. Neither can throw a fast one that has a hop on it. Nevertheless, both rank as whales of pitchers and they are that just because they have control. They work on the batter. They feed him balls of the sort he doesn't like. They never give him a fast one to hit out of the lot.

"Besides, they work with their infielders. The latter know what these pitchers are throwing and where they will throw it, they set themselves accordingly and their work is made all the easier. It's no use playing a position in a smart way behind wild pitchers who don't know where they're throwing the ball. It's foolish to set your infielders in certain spots and then see the pitcher throw the ball to the batter so that it is easy to knock it to a spot where there is no infielder or outfielder."

THOUGH THERE HAS been talk that Frank Crosetti may appear at third base instead of shortstop for the Yankees, Manager Joe McCarthy makes it known that he is not planning anything of the sort. He says Crosetti was bought as a shortstop and will be used as such, unless Lyn Lary proves he is a better shorthelder, which is considered unlikely. Whether Tony Lazzeri is traded or retained, McCarthy expects to start Jack Saltzgaver at second base, and for third base the Yankee boss is figuring on none other than Joe Sewell. McCarthy says that Ossie Bluege, of Washington, was the only better third baseman in the American League last year.

IN THE COAST argument over stalling in basketball, the contention of Coach Carlson, of Pitt, that the real offender is the defensive team that refuses to come out is now finding supporters. One of them is Jack McCord, for many years an official.

The offensive stall in the middle of the court and the defensive huddle under the basket are both to be condemned, McCord says, but it's all legal and nothing can be done about it. However, he suggests that if the rules committee ever takes any action it is the stalling defensive that should be penalized. "Defensive teams must have the ball to score," he comments, "and to hang back gives the appearance of acknowledged inferiority."

THINGS ARE RUNNING smoothly again in boxing out on the Pacific Coast since the California Commission, assisted by Gov. James Rolph, Jr., ironed out its difficulties, with Bob Edgren withdrawing his resignation and agreements being reached on all matters in dispute.

The commission has already developed a streak of leniency and has reinstated Frank Churchill, boxing manager, and Bob Perry, second, for their parts in the Carnera-Chevalier fight in Oakland almost two years ago. Carnera also was given a clean bill of health if he chooses to apply for a license in California.

Jack Johnson

WHILE PENNSYLVANIA'S COMMISSIONERS were being forced by letter-of-the-law sticklers to refuse Jack Dempsey permission to box in this state except in a bout to a decision, the California board was giving a permit to Jack Johnson to box four-round exhibitions with big gloves. Bob Edgren at first opposed the granting of a permit to Johnson on the ground that his age, 54 in March, militated against him. But he relented when Johnson explained that all he wanted was permission to box exhibitions, that he bore no scars of his ring warfare, and that he was not afraid of being killed by a boxing glove. Johnson offered to let any man present hit him as hard as possible in the stomach. Lou Daro, a bystander, accepted the challenge and knocked the big Negro four feet across the room. Johnson didn't wince and got his permit.

Len Grosvenor, new star obtained from the Ottawa Senators of the National Hockey League, in exchange for Eddie Rodden will make his debut as a Yellow Jacket when the Pittsburgh skaters renew their International League warfare with the Windsor Bulldogs at Duquesne Garden, tomorrow night. Grosvenor comes here from the Bronx Tigers, of the Canadian-American League, and Rodden has departed to join the same team.

JACKETS WALLOPED

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 3.—Windsor's Bulldogs ran away with their International Hockey League clash with Pittsburgh's Yellow Jackets last night, burying the visitors under a 5-1 score. Ty Arbour scored the Reidmen's only goal.

The score was tied halfway through the second period at 1-1, when Windsor unleashed a drive that netted two goals before that period closed, and two more in the third period. Haynes scored two goals for Windsor and assisted in two others. The lineup:

Pittsburgh—1		Windsor—5
Baxter	G	Kerr
Fraser	D	Brown
Boone	C	Gallagher
Fenton	C	Haynes
Gregg	W	Dugard
Freadlock	W	Robichaud

Second period—Pittsburgh, T. Arbour (Locking), 8:10 (awarded goal). Windsor, Haynes (Dugard, Gallagher) 14:27. Windsor, Haynes (Dugard, Richardson), 14:37. Penalties—Phillips, Barton, Fraser 2, Dunning, D. Roche, Matte.

Referee—Pass Trask.

LONDON TOPS BUFFALO

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Buffalo fell before London last night, in a tight battle, 1 to 0. The lineup:

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: BOYS WEAR GIRLS' DRESSES IN GALWAY, IRELAND—The superstition of the boy-seeking devils, sometimes referred to as "thivish," "fetishes," good people or fairies, is of great antiquity among Celtic peoples. Curiously enough, I met with the same custom in China, where young boys are protected from evil spirits by being given a girl's name. This bizarre protection of boys probably is a survival from ancient times when male progeny was considered far more desirable than female. This preference still is very virulent in the Orient. THE BRACE AND BIT PLANT—The "brace and bit plant" belongs to the geranium or crane's-bill family. The seed pod looks like a stork's bill, hence the common name for the plant, "stork's-bill;" a long stem being attached to the seed, several of which grow bunched together. Nature has supplied it with a mechanism which is almost identical with the ratchet brace and bit, except that nature has improved upon the work of man. The mechanism enables the seed to be buried several inches below the surface of the ground, to protect it against heat and drought.

SCHAEFER BOWS TO KIECKHEFER

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Augie Kieckhefer, of Chicago, is still in the race for the world three-cushion billiards championship, the only entrant with more than a faint chance of overtaking Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia.

Kieckhefer defeated Jake Schaefer, of San Francisco, yesterday to strengthen his hold on second place. The victory was a 50-to-36 decision after 48 innings.

AMATEUR CUP TILT SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS

The Akron Goodyears, national amateur champions, are scheduled to come here Sunday to meet the Morrys in the western semi-final round of the amateur soccer cup at South Park.

Pittsburghers who have watched Akron in action this season ridicule the idea of the Buckeyes repeating. If the Morrys use a goal-getting type of soccer, they probably will eliminate the Akron entry.

Given the breaks and the fight displayed in previous games, the Morrys should win. It is going to be a close game and should draw the greatest crowd of the season.

Timmy Lawry and Docky Kowallis, co-captains of Pitt's varsity basketball team, led their squad to a second victory for the season over Carnegie Tech last night before a near-capacity turnout in the Tartan gym. The score of the ball game favored Pitt by 31-26, and was the fifteenth in a row to be credited to Panther colors over the Plaid.

It was a perfect evening for the Panthers, as the Blue and Gold freshmen staged a thrilling last period rally to nose out the Tartan Plebes, 30-29, in the preliminary game.

TIM, DOCKY STAR

Lawry and Kowallis, both played sterling ball, hitting long ones and making good on follow up shots, accounted for 25 of the 31 points scored by the victors. Timmy Lawry had five field goals, three of 'em coming in the second half, and he made good on two attempts at the foul line. Kowallis had four field goals, and five fouls.

Pitt did not forge into the lead until late in the second half. The Skibos hopped off to a 7-1 advantage, but failed to play aggressive enough basketball, and the Panthers managed to crawl up close at 7-6. Another rally on Tech's part, engineered by Red Silverman and Boo Smith, enabled Tech to break away to a 11-6 advantage, but from then on, the men of Carlson edged closer, and trailed only by a point at 16-15 at the intermission.

LAWRY TIES SCORE

Tim Lawry tied the score at 18-18 early in the second half, but Jagnow, dumping one under the hoop after the ball had been declared in play by the officials after it had hit on top the backboard, gave Tech another two-point advantage. Don Smith put Pitt ahead at 21-21 with a field goal and a foul, only to see Red Fergus, who was held on the bench until midway in the second half, send the Tartans once more into the van with a goal from the side. Willie Kowallis tied the score with a foul and once again the Skibos took the advantage when Smith dropped one from under the hoop.

Taking a pass from Smith, Lawry put Pitt ahead for keeps and Kowallis sealed the verdict with a field goal and a foul. As a closing gesture, Don Smith, who spent a busy evening taking the ball off the Tech backboard and playing a whale of a defensive game, broke away for a chase down the floor when he stole the ball from Bob Smith and hooked in the final Panther goal.

The officiating was not up to snuff. Thirty-three fouls were blown on the two teams, 18 on Carnegie and 15 on Pitt. Many of these were out of order, or were considered so by folks in the basketball know along the sidelines. The officials failed to add class to just an ordinary ball game. The lineups:

COLLEGES ORGANIZE RING LOOP

FIVE SCHOOLS TO COMPETE IN NEW LEAGUE

Earl Yoemans, graduate manager of athletics at Temple University, was elected president of the Intercollegiate Boxing Conference, formed yesterday by representatives from Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, West Virginia and Wash-Jeff, who met at the P. A. A. in a special meeting called by Graduate Manager Buddy Overend of Tech.

The conference, after being duly organized, voted to hold a two-day boxing tournament March 17-18 in Tech's gymnasium, the victory and possibly the runnersup to be sent to the intercollegiate tourney and Olympic tryout meet at Penn State April 7-8 at State College.

Temple and West Virginia formally entered the conference yesterday and after electing Yoemans president, selected Buddy Overend as vice president and Don Harrison of Pitt secretary-treasurer. These officers also were named as an executive committee.

N. Y. U., which at present is not favorably inclined toward intercollegiate boxing, Wash-Jeff likely to enter as soon as athletic council permission can be obtained. Navy and Bucknell were invited to join the conference.

It also was decided to award the tourney for 1933 after this year's event and to hold the tournament here under intercollegiate rules and not under A. A. U. jurisdiction, such as the Penn State event will be staged.

The prices of admission to this year's tourney will be $1 for reserved seats and 75 cents for bleachers the first night, $1.50 for the finals or $2 for both nights.

WAYNESBURG BEATS THIEL

GREENVILLE, Pa., Feb. 3.—Waynesburg College won its first tri-state conference game of the season here last night, coasting to a 41-31 win over Thiel after subduing the Lutherans off their feet in the first half. The lineup:

BELMONT TANGLED IN ROPES IN THIRD ROUND

A high spot in the Garden windup. Belmont, hurt, was punched partly through the ropes, and, while there, received two more socks from his opponent. His manager, Frank Klaus, protested vigorously to the referee as the round ended.

PIRATES OPEN AGAINST CARDS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Unusually early opening and closing dates mark the National League schedule for 1932 which is published today. The championship race will begin on Tuesday, April 12, it will close Sunday, September 25. The Pirates will take on the World Champion Cardinals in both their out-of-town and home opening games. The first game at Forbes Field is set for Wednesday, April 20.

The playing chart for the year brings a new departure so far as the Buccos are concerned. The schedule offers Labor Day, September 5, as the closing date on the Pirates' home card. Two contests with the Cardinals are listed for that date.

The 1932 card is a novelty schedule in more ways than one. Several dates are alloted that conflict with American League play. The chart also discloses that the Freebooters will be home nearly all the time until June 7, when they invade the East.

As per custom the Pirates draw doubleheaders for the three big holidays—Decoration Day, July 4 and Labor Day. The Reds, Cubs and Cardinals will be the morning and afternoon attractions on the holidays in the order named.

The Pirates will play at home on 15 Saturdays. They will sport themselves on out-of-town terrain on 18 Sundays.

Between Rounds

Phil Cavarretta, former Lane lightweight boxing star, is named Manager of the Chicago A. A. U. boxing team which will compete in the Golden Gloves tournament at the Chicago Stadium.

Tom Meyers, chairman of the committee in charge of the amateur boxing shows on the roof of the Duke Tavern, Seventh and Penn avenues, Tuesday night, has carded eight bouts for the occasion.

Jack Dempsey, a friend of Babe Ruth, is a visitor at Yankee baseball camp. Ruth, Gehrig, Combs and Babe Dahlgren are in the winning and Bruce Hunt and Harold Bratton, of Chicago, were in the eight round semi-final.

Willie B. O. Smith, of Baltimore, and Harry Scott, of Atlantic City, have an eight rounder at Baltimore next Monday night. Jack Forbes and Phil Ratcliffe are in the main bout.

BROUILLARD HURT

HOLLYWOOD, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Lou Brouillard, Worcester, Mass., welterweight who won the decision over Jackie Fields in Chicago last night, suffered a fractured nose in the fifth round of the 10-round bout, it was announced today. Brouillard, who weighed 142 pounds, was examined when he was unable to stop the flow of blood from his nose. Fields scaled 144 pounds.

EAGLES MERMEN WIN

The Eagles won a 5-point water polo match from the Jackie Fields of Chicago last night, 24 to 19. The Eagles were entered in the Illinois Athletic Club tournament at Chicago. Thursday night will be the deciding game, after which the Eagles will play at 9 o'clock Friday night. Players who participated were Bob Ferris, Bob Hoffman, Bill Hoffman, Bill Hoffman, Jr., Bill Hoffman, Jr., Bill Hoffman, Jr.,

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Drift Off — Local Market Narrow

MARKET AGAIN DRIFTS OFF SLOWLY

Losses Generally Restricted To Point or So; Shares Fail to Hold Early Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The stock market again drifted gradually lower today, as reports from the steel industry were rather cheerless, and traders awaited General Motors dividend announcement, due after the close.

Save as it continued to add an element of uncertainty, the far eastern conflict appeared to have little influence. The Cuban earthquake had no visible effect, for reports indicated slight damage to American property. The market remained extremely dull.

Losses were largely restricted to a point or so, but Auburn slumped more than 5. International Harvester was also a soft spot, presumably reflecting dividend uncertainty. It lost more than 2. Miscellaneous issues off a point or so included American Telephone, Liggett and Myers "B," Loews, Macy Du Pont, Safeway Stores, and Southern Pacific. The market had a brief upturn in the early trading, United States Steel rising more than a point, and maintaining the major part of its gain into the afternoon, although other advances were mostly lost. Standard of California lost only a fraction, on reduction of the annual dividend basis to $2 from $2.50.

United States Steel's offer of stock to employes at $40 a share was construed as bullish in some quarters, although it was pointed out in usually well informed quarters that the corporation evidently is scarcely guided by the market outlook for its stock in making such offerings. The offerings have usually been made early in January, save when capital changes or other developments intervened. The offering was presumably delayed this year until after the January dividend meeting.

The motor manufacturers have been slow in placing their orders for steel, which was a factor in a slight reduction in operations this week, Iron Age estimating ingot output at 28 per cent of capacity, against 29 last week. The publication also estimated a moderate reduction in January pig iron output from the previous month. Some quarters in the steel trade, however, are hopeful that substantial orders will be placed by the railroads, as result of the wage reduction.

The weekly report of electric power consumption indicated slight improvement, showing a reduction of only 5.8 per cent from last year, as against 6.7 per cent in the two previous weeks. The weekly freight car loadings, showing a drop of about 10,000 cars from the previous week, was principally accounted for by a smaller movement of coal, and was not regarded as particularly significant. The petroleum figures showed continued piling up of gasoline stocks, about 1,000,000 barrels being added. Copper remained heavy, with the domestic quotation sinking ¼ of a cent to 6½ cents, as foreshadowed by yesterday's cut in the export price.

FOX THEATERS CHANGE HANDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—The Skouras Brothers, chain theater operators, completed negotiations with the Fox Film Corporation here today to take over control of more than 500 Fox houses on the West Coast and in the Middle West on February 15.

The theaters will be taken over under an operating agreement which was said to run for five years. No property nor lease holdings changed hands in the deal.

The Fox Theater in Philadelphia is the only so-called Fox deluxe house to be transferred to the Skouras Brothers. The Roxy Theater, in New York City, and houses in Brooklyn, Washington, and St. Louis remain under Fox control.

TOKIO MARKET REOPENED

The National Raw Silk Exchange states that the silk exchange at Yokohama was open today. The local exchange states that the Yokohama market opened much stronger at 27 to 69 points advance.

RAIL CUT LAST OF REMEDIAL MOVES

Considerable Progress Made In Fortifying Against Sore Spots in Business

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Feb. 3.—Considerable progress has been made in fortifying against individual sore spots in the domestic business situation.

The railroad wage pact was the last of a series of remedial moves designed to prevent wholesale collapses of business corporations. Most of the other defensive moves centered around the administration reconstruction program, of which the launching of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was the kingpin.

Mr. Rukeyser.

Now the time has come to emphasize that in the present economic battle the best defense is an offensive. Instead of adhering to the timid defense psychology, business should launch a positive attack on deflationary forces. The objective should be to raise the level of commodity prices and the method should be through controlled credit expansion.

FORCES AT WORK

Once leaders get the positive viewpoint, they will find that fundamental restorative forces are at work, which will tend to heal individual sore spots. On the other hand, if business stays on the defensive and fails to deal with fundamental causes of the depression, weak spots will continue to develop faster than corrective influences can be set free.

Eighty-six competent economists, in a joint memorandum, indicated that the best technique for a controlled credit expansion consisted of launching a vast program of public works. Such activities would be financed through the sale of prosperity bonds, which would be absorbed with the aid of bank credit. As many of these bonds would gravitate to the loan portfolios of banks, member banks would thus acquire items which are eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve. Thus, the prosperity loan, instead of depriving private business of credit which would be used by the government, would give member banks additional access to the central banking system, and the net result would be to provide considerably more, not less, credit for private business.

NEW CREDIT

Since Congress has given so freely of public funds for the various Hoover reconstruction agencies, the apology has been offered that instead of a public works remedy the credit expansion would be accomplished instead through the reconstruction agencies. This viewpoint entails acceptance of the quantity theory of money, and presupposes that, if additional credit is available, it will automatically be used. Events last year, however, fail to uphold such a theory.

New credit during the depression loomed up in excess reserves and in hoarded currency, which was withdrawn from the economic system. On the other hand, credit expansion, in connection with the public works plan, is accompanied by a program for its prompt utilization. While private initiative is paralyzed, the government would break the ice by ordering vast quantities of materials and re-employing idle labor, thus starting a construction cycle of restorative developments.

Irrespective of what method is used, the main goal of raising the commodity price level must be kept in mind.

Soviet Extends Trade to Ethiopia

ADDI ABABA.—(AP.)—Price cutting has given Russian trade a foothold in the Abyssinian market, especially in oils and sugar. Competing interests have cut prices to meet the new rival.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving remembrance of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Victoria M. Seaton, who was called home one year ago today, February 7, 1932.
Sweet and sudden was the call
Of our dear and good to all.
Her loving heart had ceased to beat,
Before we knew it she was gone.
A bitter grief, a shock at last
Has left us here to mourn so fast.
God called her home and thought it best,
So He took her home to eternal rest.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Ada Fisher, who departed this life February 8, 1931. Her memory is as dear today as in the hour she passed away. Sadly missed by her husband and sons.

Daisy Taps Wire to Summon Aid for Herself and Kidnaped Boy

CHAPTER XXIV.

"We're from headquarters," the two men informed the lady in the store from where the telephone call had been made. "We traced a call from here—who has been usin' your 'phone?" one of them asked.

On her guard, as well with crooks as with cops, she hesitated.

"Why—nobody I don' think has been usin' the 'phone," she said slowly. She looked from one to the other. "I don' know—"

One of the officers walked around the counter and took her by the arm.

"Come on, sis—don't kid us now—who was usin' that 'phone?" he asked. Then threateningly, "Unless you want to go to the station to tell about it."

"I got two kids an' a sick husband," wailed the woman, now thoroughly intimidated. "Lemme see—oh, yes—there was a feller in here a few minutes ago what used the 'phone. But I didn't pay any attention to him. A lotta people use my 'phone. It's public."

* * *

Daisy Beaumont had been chucked in a rear room devoid of furniture, filled with odds and ends, bits of plumbing, paint cans, tangled rope, in Guiseppe Belmonte's hunting lodge 50 miles from the Big Burg. She knew it was Belmonte's hunting lodge, although they had brought her in blindfolded. But they had neglected to blindfold Daisy soon enough. She had been there before. And Daisy was observing.

The only light in the place was a small old-fashioned bulb, which hung near the ceiling. It threw out a yellow light, and the bulb was dust-covered. But when Daisy's eyes became accustomed to the light she began to take stock of the place. With the sense of comfort characteristic of beautiful women and cats, she picked out the softest spot in the place—a pile of rope—and sat down. They had at least left her cigarets, and she waited. And she waited . . . that night they threw her in food and some coffee, without comment, and Daisy said nothing . . . then came a blanket . . .

"Who are you?"

"I'm Corporal Michael Fitzpatrick!" stoically exclaimed the little fellow. "Who are you?"

* * *

Daisy Beaumont had been a resourceful girl all her life. Little education—but lots of experience. In her case there was that psychological difference between brilliance and intelligence, so often differentiated by those who have made a study of the mental processes of the animal called man . . .

Daisy had had many lovers. Like many women, she had learned things of those she loved . . . she had once been infatuated with a Russian dancer and had a smattering of the ballet . . . she had once cared for a poet and she had learned something of iambics and pentameters, but had not remembered it . . . she had once loved a bootlegger and she learned that rye was made from alcohol and burnt sugar, gin from juniper and alcohol, and that scotch got its smoky flavor from creosote . . . and she had been a telephone operator and a loving lineman had shown her how a wire was tapped . . .

In the little 12x14 room where she and Mickey had been tossed, Daisy had explored every nook and corner. She knew that her own life was in danger, she knew that little Mickey, who proudly declared that his father could "lick any man in the world," was in jeopardy, and she sought some means of escape. It was in her search that Daisy uncovered what she knew to be a wire-tapper's outfit . . . In Belmonte's place one might find almost anything . . .

She not only discovered this, but she discovered that the telephone was located just on the other side of the wall of the room in which she and Mickey were confined. This wire-tapper's outfit consisted of what was known as the "bug"—merely a receiving set with two wires. At the ends of these wires were two little crayfish pinchers, which bit through the insulation and formed the connection.

And the wires were exposed on her side . . . Daisy had not been in the closet with Mickey more than an hour before she discovered the "bug."

She could hear, by pressing her ear to the wall, when they were using the telephone. And the telephone was being used plenty. But during a lull she connected the "bug" and called the Morris Hotel.

"I'm at Belmonte's lodge, near Cannondale," she said, and she told him exactly how to get there. "They've got Mickey here and the whole mob's armed. Don't tip off your brother, because you've got to crash in the way I tell you. There's a back road; if you come in the entrance they'll get the signal from the lighthouse. Belmonte's here now an' all the rest o' the mob. Hurry, sweetheart, I love you, and I need you—"

* * *

Ed did not call from the hotel. Instead he went to the corner. When he got headquarters he asked for Lieut. Tom Deegan.

"Hello, Tom," he said. "This is Ed; yes, yes, never mind. I've located Mickey . . . For God's sake, don't tell Jim. We'll call him just before we get there. We've got to do this thing right . . . I've got the lowdown . . . can you get 10 fightin' men who can keep their mouths shut? . . . Okay, bring me a gun and pick me up at Clark and Devoe. I'll be on the corner."

He didn't wait more than 20 minutes, pacing up and down in front of the place. A lone car, with only Tom in it, came at last. Tom got out leisurely, walked over to the show window, looked in a minute and then sidled up to Ed and said out of the corner of his mouth:

"Just around the corner, Ed."

BEGINS TOMORROW IN THE SUN-TELEGRAPH

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

WHEN IT COMES TO GRATITUDE, Broadway is the strangest street in the world. Every man who reaches the top must have had a helping hand from someone or other at some stage of the game. But few of them will admit it.

A couple of years ago, for instance, a struggling young night club owner needed $3,000 to open a new spot. He tackled one of his friends.

"Joe," he said earnestly, "this place will make a fortune. You're my pal and you're the only one I can turn to. Lend me $3,000. I'll rent the place and sell the coatroom privilege right away. You'll have your $3,000 back in no time."

The friend gave the night club owner the $3,000. The club was opened. On the opening night the friend showed up with his girl and was given a good table. He smiled complacently.

"You see, honey?" he said to his companion. "Frank appreciates what I did for him. I'm glad he does."

* * *

When the check rolled around, the man who had advanced the money almost fell to the floor. The night club owner had tacked on the full cover charge! . . .

* * *

The classic of all gratitude stories, however, actually had its beginning some seven years ago. The principals in the story were a young producer who was putting on his second musical show, and a world-famous comedian who has been a sensation since 1911.

The producer and the comedian were pals in those days. Meeting each other on the street one afternoon, the comedian noticed that his friend's face was long and sad. He inquired the reason.

"I'll tell you the truth," murmured the young producer. "I'm up against it. I'm trying to get my new show together and I haven't got the dough. People are chasing me with bills and things. I'm in a tough spot."

"You can have it, kid," he muttered. "Come on over to my bank with me."

Within half an hour the producer had the money he needed. He looked at the comedian and was on the verge of tears.

"I'll never forget what you've done for me," he cried. "Never as long as I live. Thanks. I can't say any more. But I'll never forget it."

Time rolled along. The producer paid back every penny of that $40,000 within a short time. Today he is a millionaire.

About three years ago, this same producer opened a new show and charged $100 for his orchestra seats on the opening night. It was to be a tremendous opening, and every one who meant anything would be there. Two days before the opening the comedian called the producer on the phone, saying:

"Surest thing you know," returned the producer immediately. "I'll send you over a couple of my own seats. Glad to do it for you."

That night the seats were delivered. They were in the second row, on the aisle. The comedian was tickled pink.

"That's nice of the boy," he told a certain newspaperman. "He's given me two of the best $100 seats in the house. He certainly is a regular guy."

The next morning he received a note from the producer requesting him to send a check for $200 for the seats! . . .

* * *

In upstate New York lives a newspaperman who is one of the finest in his profession. He turns out some of the best paragraphs I have ever seen. Unfortunately, however, he also turns out some of the best stews that any one has ever seen. Which makes everything even.

When this reporter goes on a bust, the result is a thing of beauty. He will work steadily for three or four weeks, and be extremely devoted to his wife and two children. All of a sudden comes that urge—and blooie!

Last week, one of those urges arrived. The reporter left for his office around 10 in the morning. He pulled the family car out of the garage and drove in the direction of his newspaper.

Passing his favorite speakeasy, he decided to have just one little eye-opener. Add that to your famous last words. He parked his car in front of the joint and stepped into the place for that one little drink.

Three days later he finally came to. He awakened to find himself sitting at his desk in his office. He walked to the window to get a breath of fresh air. Looking out, he suddenly realized that his car was nowhere in sight.

He immediately came to the conclusion that somebody had stolen the car. Not feeling any too well, he was naturally irritable. He leaped to the telephone and reported the loss of the machine to the police department.

That was hardly enough. That a man of his position should have a machine stolen! A terrible situation.

"I'll show those crooks who they're fooling around with," he muttered to one of his co-workers. "Nobody's going to steal my car and get away with it."

For an hour he sat at the telephone and called up political powers he knew. He reported the loss to each one of them and urged them to rouse the police department to action.

As a result, half of the local police force was searching for the reporter's car within two hours. Orders went out that the car must be found at once. Every car of the same make as the reporter's was looked at with suspicion. Plenty of automobile drivers wondered what it was all about when they were stopped every few miles and ordered to produce their licenses.

When night rolled around the car had not yet been found. The reporter decided to return home and see what his wife looked like once again. He left orders with his city desk to be notified as soon as the car turned up.

"As soon as they find it," he told the city editor, "I'll hop right over to the police station. I'm going to press this case myself. These auto thieves can't get away with their nonsense on a man like me."

Arriving home, he found his car locked up in his own garage. His wife informed him that he had come home two days before, put his car away and then gone out again! . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS -:- Junior Komic Club

Today we continue the reports of meetings of various chapters of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, held at the Warner neighborhood theaters Saturday.

The program at the State Washington opened with the singing of the Junior Komic Club song, "Star-Spangled Banner," and reading of the club pledge. Then followed vocal solos, chorus singing, instrumental numbers by the Junior Komic Club Band, and instrumental soloists. This part of the program was broadcast over WNBO.

A large party of children and adults, who have been listening to these weekly broadcasts from their homes in Monongahela City, were present at the meeting.

THE PROGRAM

SCHENLEY CHAPTER

There was another peppy meeting at the Schenley Saturday. The Boy Scouts conducted the opening ceremonies of the salute to the flag, and the pledge of allegiance. Scouts participating were Marino Fatimos, Robert Ankeny, James Webb, Robert Unrath, flag bearers; Gerald Cooper, reporter; James Fleming, bugler. James Harper, Rex Smith and Reese Loveday put on a comedy sketch.

The Schenley Band is made up of William Jarrett, leader; Appel, Swaney, Hennan, Phenberg, Hopf, Franklin, McInnes and Shear. An extra attraction was feats of magic performed by Mascara, the magician.

ALL WE ASK OF ANY NEIGHBOR IS TO MIND HIS OWN BUSINESS, HE CAN DO THAT IN ANY LANGUAGE.
THE SENSIBLE THING FOR US TO DO IS SIMPLY FORGET ABOUT PEOPLE WHO, I JUST FEEL IN MY BONES, THINK ABOUT US ONLY WHEN THEY SEE US STANDING AT THE WINDOW.
ANYHOW WHY WORRY! AFTER NEIGHBORS ARE HERE A WHILE WE'RE NOT VERY GABBY WITH THEM. WE'LL FEEL PERFECTLY NATURAL WITH NO CONVERSATION OUT OF THOSE PEOPLE IF WE SIMPLY IMAGINE THEY'VE LIVED HERE A MONTH OR SO.

CONGRESSMAN FRISBY HAS PLAN TO PACIFY JAPANESE

PINGPONG, Feb. 1.—Is there any one in my vast audience of readers who will give me the loan of a couple of rabbits and a gold watch? If so, I believe I can settle this whole Sino-Japanese trouble and think nothing of it. Since arriving here, I have unselfishly paced off a large domain of nice country which will take care of Japan's surplus population which is now cooped in the little bitsy witsy island of Japan. The question that bothered me was how to feed the Japanese, once I get them comfortable here. Then the idea occurred to me that I could put a couple of rabbits on the place, and by the time the League of Nations has settled matters, there is nothing that tastes better than a spiced rabbit stew. The nice thing about the Frisby plan is that it is simple. Don't thank me, Japan! Thank the American people who loaned me to you.

'Paid Under Protest'

The Allied Boards of Trade have hit upon a good plan in the proposal to protest against outrageous rates every time an unfair public utilities bill is paid.

The public utilities companies which are charging the people too much must be given to understand that the people are dissatisfied with the rates.

Some of these companies are trying to create the impression that the movement to get unfair rates reduced is merely the work of a few agitators and chronic malcontents and that the majority of their customers have no complaint to make.

The public interested in getting reasonable rates can correct this impression by affixing to their bills the Allied Boards of Trade sticker which says:

With thousands thus protesting the utilities which charge too much may give some consideration to the question of rate readjustment.

The Blue Law Revolt

Signs Multiply That the People Do Not Intend to Be Bound Any Longer By the Old Statute.

Defying the reactionaries, Mayor Charles B. Mayne, of New Castle, has announced the theaters of that city may again give performances next Sunday for the benefit of the destitute.

Theaters in Monessen will also be open for the second time next Sunday, for the benefit of the Community Chest.

In a number of other Pennsylvania towns Sunday movies have been given recently, in the face of protests from religious organizations.

He that runs may read. It is inconceivable that the Blue Law would be thus flaunted if public opinion were not overwhelmingly against it. The Sun-Telegraph has shown by a careful postcard poll that the people of Allegheny County are 5 to 1 in favor of the repeal of the statute. There is reason to believe that sentiment is much the same everywhere else in the state.

Let candidates for the Legislature be required to say what their attitude will be on this important question.

Handsome Gifts

The Mellons' Contributions to the Welfare Fund Entitle Them to the Community's Gratitude.

The Mellons are revealed as the donors of the greater part of the $750,000 offered to the Welfare Fund on condition that the remainder necessary to attain the goal were raised.

This takes the wind out of the sails of those, including Gov. Pinchot, who criticized the Secretary of the Treasury on the ground that he was not giving generously enough for the relief of the unemployed.

Secretary Mellon and his brother, R. B. Mellon, have jointly given $600,000 to the Welfare Fund, or about one-tenth of the total amount raised. These gifts, together with the contributions of W. L. Mellon and the Mellon companies, make a total of more than $1,000,000 that the Welfare Fund has obtained from that source.

Incidentally, it is always dangerous business to find fault with people on the ground that they do not contribute enough to charity, for there are those who follow the teaching of Him who said:

The Fight Goes On Greater Pennsylvania Council Has Undertaken a Worth-while Campaign.

Truth crushed to earth shall rise again.

The quotation applies to Pittsburgh's contention that the freight rates charged for carrying coal from here to the Great Lakes are unfair in comparison with those charged for the transportation of coal to the Great Lakes from the southern fields.

Time and again the Interstate Commerce Commission has denied our contention, but it cannot be suppressed. No sooner has the quietus supposedly been put on the question than it bobs up again.

The coal operators were overruled only a week or two ago in their latest effort to obtain relief. But now comes the Greater Pennsylvania Council, a creation of the Legislature and a branch of the state government, with the announcement that it will begin the campaign anew.

The justice of our plea is obvious. The rate for carrying a ton of coal from the Kanawha (W. Va.) field, 370 miles to the Lake, is $1.81; it is plainly unfair to charge the Pittsburgh operator $1.46, or only 35 cents less, for a haul less than one-half as long.

In undertaking to correct this injustice the Greater Pennsylvania Council has begun a worth-while campaign.

First in Tomatoes

County Crop Report Suggests the Possibility of Profitable Extension of Truck Gardening.

Allegheny County's agricultural possibilities are indicated by the annual crop report published yesterday, which shows that the county led all others in the state last year in production of tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers, was second in beans, beets, cabbage and onions, and third in peas, spinach and sweet corn.

Bear in mind that in winning these positions we had to compete with Lancaster and those other rich farming counties in Eastern Pennsylvania which supply the Philadelphia market.

With garden truck growing here so successfully it appears that the raising of such produce might be extended to the advantage of the unemployed. There is a great deal of idle farm land in Allegheny County, and we have in Pittsburgh some of the largest food-preserving plants to be found anywhere in the world.

It is none too early for trade and civic bodies to inquire into the possibility of putting jobless men to work on idle land next summer.

Why Their Ship Doesn't Come In!

The American Federation of Labor, which ought to know, reports that the ranks of the unemployed now total EIGHT MILLION THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN.

And the Administration, for whatever reason, blocks the approach of the relief ship—a $5,000,000,000 Prosperity Loan, bearing the needed JOBS FOR THE JOBLESS.

It has found time to figure out ways and means of financing the financiers; it has found time to worry over the plight of the peoples of other lands. But to the cry of distress of its OWN people—the heart-rending wail of the eight million odd workless—IT HAS TURNED A DEAF EAR.

The unemployed asked for work, but instead of jobs they were handed a dole from private charities and relief agencies and NOTHING from the Government.

They asked for jobs, and were told "No American will be permitted to starve."

Work must be created for the jobless, and the Prosperity Loan, a $5,000,000,000 Bond Issue to finance a gigantic scheme of essential public works, is the proper method to do it. All classes would benefit.

The Administration having failed the unfortunate unemployed, Congress must act PROMPTLY. In importance the Prosperity Loan transcends all other issues. It's up to Congress to aid the folks at home.

Hypocrisy: The Navy: The Democratic House

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era," and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Hypocrisy and intellectual dishonesty have been at a premium in New York City among professional reformers for a year; but nothing has quite approached the denunciation of Mayor Walker by the City Affairs Committee because of the temporary suspension of registration of unemployed by the Home Relief Service. This committee, smarting no doubt under the effective lashing its loosely-drawn charges against the Mayor received to the general applause of the community, demands that the Mayor take steps at once to find employment relief for 107,000 needy families.

This committee knows that the city administration in New York has done a million times more for the needy than the national administration.

It knows that the national administration has done nothing, and insists that it will do nothing.

It knows that the Home Relief Bureau has had its appropriation cut in half, and that this is in accordance with the demands of the bankers as a condition for a loan.

It knows that appeals for federal aid have been made to Washington; that Senator Wagner is fighting for it now; and it is not of record that the City Affairs Committee has supported the appeals in as far as anyone can notice.

To find a smug hypocrisy approaching that of a small but vociferous group in New York today one must go back to the wretched days of the Roundheads of Cromwell's time.

None of Our Business

The defiant attitude of the Japanese at Shanghai, together with loose boycott talk, emanating from the neighborhood of the office of Secretary Stimson, and the resulting resentment at Tokio, calls for some sober thinking among Americans. We want no new world war—no war at all in which we may be called upon to pay the bills.

Whatever may be our opinion of the Manchurian obsession of the Japanese, it is none of our business unless Americans in China are assailed. It is the duty of our government to protect these, and it is to be assumed that it will.

But the American people want, and will have nothing in the nature of an alliance between England and the United States against any other nation, so long as that nation does not molest our nationals or their property.

But there is another phase: The world at this moment is living on a mountain of dynamite, and a mere spark may force upon us the armed defense of the nation. This would seem to be a remarkable time for us to decide not to build our Navy up to the treaty limitations. A wretched time to skimp and demoralize our greatest agency of self-defense. It is now said that even the President is almost persuaded to change his little Navy policy in view of the tension. It is time.

We Sank Great Ships

Public opinion is often incomprehensible in its processes. The very people who raised a hue and cry against Wilson because of the league, proceeded at the earliest opportunity to sacrifice American interests in the Washington conference of the Harding administration. We then made a nit-wit gesture, worthy of the hero of Cervantes, when we agreed that we would not fortify our possessions in the Pacific where the other contracting parties already had fortified.

But that aside, we entered into an agreement with England and Japan regarding the ratios of the respective navies; and we sank great ships to the bottom of the sea because England destroyed blue prints. But we have not built up to the limitations allowed us, and the result is that, under the present plans of the Hoover administration, within four years the fleet of Japan will be as strong as ours. That was not the understanding in the conference treaty; but we cannot complain. Japan has done all the treaty permitted her to do; we have not. Ours is the stupidity.

Democratic Leadership Is Making an Impression

Meanwhile the statesmanship and sobriety of the Democratic House under the leadership of John N. Garner and Henry Rainey is growing upon the country and foreshadowing something of the spirit with which a Democratic administration may be expected to act. The action of the Democrats in the House, in taking sharp issue with the administration against retroactive taxation, will appeal to taxpayers generally; and it is sound and sane.

It seems eons ago since Charles Evans Hughes rather smugly faced a New York audience with the demagogic question: "Would you entrust the business interests of the country to the Democrats?"—and yet it was in 1928 when Republican sins of omission and commission were hurrying us to the abyss of economic and business ruin.

But it is not only the statesmanship and wisdom of Democratic leadership in the House that is making an impression; it is its sense of the decencies as well. When the Democrats of the Ways and Means Committee decided to invite the Republican members in on the framing of the tax law it did no more than it should have done, and yet it has startled the country. It has startled the country because when the Democrats were in the minority it was not the fashion for the Republican members of the committee to permit the Democratic members to participate.

* * *

Barred Out By Locked Doors

That always impressed us as vicious. Under our party system of government the majority rules, but the minority is presumed to have the right to submit its views; and under our representative system, certainly the right to know what is going on. And yet in the framing of the present tariff act, which has contributed mightily to the ruin of our foreign trade, and consequently to the hard times, the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee framing the act were as effectively barred out by locked doors as though they were irresponsible curiosity seekers from the streets.

The action of the Democratis in inviting the Republicans in means more statesmanship and less petty partisanship than we have had legislation for a decade.

* * *

No One Is Astonished

Thus the Democratic leadership in the House is making a favorable impression on the people of both parties; for there has been nothing wildly demagogic or mildly petty about it.

No one familiar with the character of the Democratic leaders and Mr. Garner is astonished. These leaders, composing a board of policy and made up of some of the best brains in American public life, have furnished a better exhibition of statesmanship, fairness and common sense than we have seen elsewhere during the four years of "a chicken in every pot" and "better sanitary plumbing."

Along with able leadership has gone a unification of the majority party which makes for public confidence; and if the majority continues as consistently as it has begun, putting aside the non-essentials, and concentrating on real public services it will be summoned to heavy responsibilities and great opportunities in the fall.

Misunderstanding Women

* * *

No matter how reasonable and frank the modern woman may be, her mind still works on the same old mechanism and does the same sudden and surprising tailspins. She may no longer be a fascinating "mystery," but she is still a paradox. And no normal man ever understood a paradox.

* * *

She'll spend two long, weary days looking for the hat she wants . . . or decide, in two minutes after it comes home, that she would never be seen dead-or-alive in it. And consign it to the closet-shelf.

She'll remain cool and brave and cheerfully calm, when her husband tells her that he has smashed the car or lost his last dollar in the market. And then go into hysterics when he overturns his demi-tasse on her new evening gown, or drops the plate of caviar sandwiches.

* * *

* * *

She'll take his achievements as a matter of course and his success for granted, and then go around bragging about the way he can pack a trunk, paint a chair or powder her back.

* * *

She'll cover up his failures, lie to hide his weaknesses and follow him to the prison door with her chin up. But she'll nearly die of humiliation, when he blushes and stumbles through an after-dinner speech or eats his fish with his salad fork.

She'll forgive him for gambling away her money, and leaving his debts unpaid, if he'll only remember to bring her orchids, occasionally, to give her the heart of the salad and hold her hand on the way home in the taxi.

* * *

She'll endure grouches, browbeatings, neglect and deception, and then pack up and leave him, because he brutally tells her that she is too fat to wear the Eugenie styles.

* * *

* * *

In short, she'll forgive him for breaking her heart, wrecking her life and destroying her peace of mind, but never for hurting her pride or her vanity. That is what Dorothy Parker was thinking of, when she wrote that immortal line, "Women and elephants never forget!"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Saturday night Mayfair dances reveal little gloom among theatrical folk as result of the slump in their professional activities. Held in the Crystal Room of the Ritz and sponsored by John Rumsey they are crowded to capacity weekly.

Here stage and cinema folk with the gloss of peeled eggs collect around midnight to dance until dawn. The dances have been perhaps the gayest gatherings of the winter. While the privileged may bring guests in other callings, the membership is limited to "the profesh."

Dues are $50 a year and a charge of $10 per person at each affair. A light supper is included in the prix fixe. A similar organization holds forth in Hollywood. Away from studio and stage dressing rooms, there is a marked comaraderie among the elect.

Petty bickerings and trade jealousies are forgotten. Matinee idols exchange repartee and intensely individualistic stars cluster at the same tables in rousing good fellowship. There are perhaps more corsages of orchids on display at Mayfair than at a Clarence Mackay grand ball.

Too, the Mayfair offers perhaps the most extravagantly dressed crowds in America. The vanity among stage people to impress others of their guild is always apparent. Entrance to the crystal room is down a grand stairway and there is a studied timing by notables for the grand affect.

Tremendously beauded stars pause on stairways to flash bracelets or incline heads archly to give a full view of gowns and coiffure. A great lover appears in the grand manner of a Caliph strolling through the slave market. Now and then an equally famous luminary in the lurching throes of hiccups.

Around the Forty-sixth street entrances on wintriest nights huddle autograph hunters like sheep in the storm, remindful of those black bonneted ladies with puffity pockets shivering in the shadows of London's Adelphi arch. They find departing celebrities usually in a mellow and autographing mood.

* * *

We were discussing life's biggest fright. Frazier Hunt recalled that day on a roving newspaper assignment in a New Mexico town. A posse with a rope drew up in front of a hotel where he was sitting and motioned to him. He had been mistaken for an escaped desperado. Ray Long [illegible] entered the night in a Moscow [illegible] that he awakened with a start staring into hideous eyes outside a window. My own adventure in hair-lifting horror was too sissified to mention. It concerned the afternoon, returning from school, I saw Chief of Police Ed Martin descending steps at my home. It was a day following a watermelon raid.

Another phase of the American theater's "ancient regime" vanishes with the passing of stage quartets. They offered harmonic quality now heard in diluted beauty by radio. Who would forget the Bison City Four, the Empire City Quartet and Avon Comedy Four? They stuck to a standardized pattern—a Hebrew, a straight man, a Negro and the effeminate man. Mostly jocose and comically clad they varied with tear-jerking ballads that brought out a flutter of handkerchiefs.

* * *

Memory of quartets was revived by Fritz Ulsamer out in Charleston, W. Va., who sent a yellowed program, curled at the edges like an old sandwich, of the Silver Star Minstrels the night 25 years ago it played Vinton, O. Among the stellar attractions was the rendition of "O, O, Miss Phoebe," by O. O. McIntyre. My versatilities were amazing. Aside from appearing in two quartet numbers as "Sambo" in the pagan skit, "Zeke; or Fun in a Livery Stable," with "Bratt and McIntyre," kings of the slack wire, and with "McIntyre and Resener, the comedy cut ups in songs and steppings," I also did an Indian club olio number. No wonder we walked home 20 miles away.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Forty attacks on white women by Hawaiian hoodlums—so the rumor goes. One attack of such outrageous viciousness that it has resulted in murder. The whole country rocks with horror—

Consider one big city in the Middle West. Ninety-seven women in that city were attacked during the last month. The latest victims were two girls, one 20, the other 21 years old. They were taken for a wild automobile ride, frightfully beaten, threatened with death by drowning and shooting when they attempted to resist.

Atrocious! Yes. Sickens you, doesn't it? Suppose it had been your sister . . . your sweetheart or wife . . . your little girl? You'd have done almost anything. So would I. What decent citizen wouldn't? And yet—

Wonder if I have the nerve to write what I want to say. Will any editor have the courage to print it? Will any reader be fair enough to read it calmly, consider it squarely? Don't know. But somebody should say it. We'll never rid ourself of such horror unless somebody does say it. So here goes for a try—

Even while I'm feeling as you do—

Even though I would probably have done just what that mother is accused of doing, had my little girl been attacked—

Still I'm wondering—

ARE THE MEN ALONE TO BLAME?

ISN'T THERE SOME CONNECTION BETWEEN THE WAY MANY MODERN GIRLS ARE ACTING AND DRESSING AND THESE ATROCITIES?

I do not know the unfortunate young wife in Honolulu . . . nor any of the mistreated women in that Middle Western city. I am not intimating that any of them transgressed the proprieties by the slightest act. The report states that they were all innocent and pitiful victims of male brutality—

But were they the victims of men, alone?

OR WERE THEY ALSO VICTIMS OF THE LAXITY AND LAWLESSNESS OF THEIR OWN SEX?

BUT I HAVE SEEN HUNDREDS . . . THOUSANDS . . . YOUNG WOMEN WHO OPENLY INVITED ATTACK BY THEIR DRESS AND MANNERS!

And it seems to me that if we wish to stop this outbreak of violence we must study all the conditions which are accountable for that violence. If we are to track down and punish the brutality of men, we should also recognize and curb the conditions which arouse the brutality. And women, themselves, are responsible for many of these conditions.

Mind you, I'm not a prude. I was never a coy and cautious young girl. I am not a careful nor conventional woman. I am as all for the simple sports clothes of the modern girl and her easy, breezy manner. And I am certainly not advocating the mincing modes and manners of our grandmas. But I do believe in decency, in dressing and deportment. Feminine modesty is more than a sign of good taste. It is our strongest barrier against the viciousness and vulgarity of the jungle. It has done more to control and civilize the human animal than all the laws in Christendom.

AND YOU CAN ALWAYS COUNT ON HELL BUSTING LOOSE WHEN WOMEN STOP BEING LADIES AND LOOK AND BEHAVE LIKE ROWDIES.

Let's not mince facts. You know what I'm talking about as well as I do.

The make-up girl and the strut that makes it impossible to tell a Nice Girl from a Loose One—

The likkored up young ladies being carried to limousines—

The bathing suit that consists of a brassiere and trunks—

Suppose, you were a low grade, vicious sort of a man. Who wouldn't dare break the law if safeguards were all up—but who seize any opportunity if the barriers were all down—

WOULDN'T YOU REGARD THAT AS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

AND HOW MUCH WOULD YOU RESPECT THE DECENCY OF ONE GIRL IF ALL WOMEN SEEMED TO HAVE GONE INDECENT?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

You have not been able to lay aside much for the "rainy days" to come.

But that is not so important as to be able to face future years with an untroubled conscience.

You would find little enjoyment in any financial gains made because of unfair dealing or taking advantage of those unable to fight you or to protect themselves.

Even if you have little money you are fortunate if you have no regrets over your treatment of your fellow men.

Under the guise of business you know men who have taken unfair advantage of others and sometimes you wonder if you were not foolish in failing to fortify yourself financially, irrespective of your victims.

But right now would you be willing to give up your peace of mind for any amount of money gained wrongfully?

However, if you are in straightened circumstances, do not make the mistake of thinking that all men who are wealthy are dishonest.

Many well-to-do men of today have gained their money in perfectly lawful, honest ways and, far from being unkind, are constantly doing good in a material sense among those less fortunate.
